Deal With Hospital Question

Dr. Charles E. Simpson has been appointed the state's representative in the matter of passing upon the Vermont land offered as a site for the contagious hospital. Dr. Simpson went to Boston this morning and later it was learned by telephone at city hall that State Health Commissioner Allan J. McLaughlin, M. D., had appointed Dr. Simpson, the commissioner's representative in this district, to represent the state in the hospital matter, and it is up to Dr. Simpson to say whether the land offered by Mr. Thor. Varnum is suitable for an isolation hospital.

America Will Not Bar Exports of War Munitions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The United States in a note to Austria-Hungary, published today, firmly but politely declines to accede to the request of the Vienna government that the export of arms to the allies be stopped.

In justification of its position the United States recites, among other things, that, international law, the practice of nations, the security of the United States and other nations without large military or naval establishments, and neutrality itself are opposed to prohibiting the export of war munitions by a neutral to a belligerent in time of war.

The United States contends that it cannot deny to others the right which it claims for itself to purchase war

LOWELL MAY DIE

Frank Souza of 52 North street, this city, is lying in a serious condition at St. Joseph's hospital, Nashua, and his companion Frank Silva, also of this city is in a precarious condition as a result of a head-on collision between a motor-cycle on which they were riding and an automobile driven by Elmer T. Carlton of Peabody, Carlton is also at the hospital suffering from numerous abrasions about the head and body. Souza has both legs broken, and is probably injured internally, while Silva fractured an arm and leg.

The accident as near as can be learned happened on the state boulevard near Nashua. Carlton was driving his machine along the roadway, it is said, when it slowed and crashed into the motor-cycle which was driven by Souza. Silva was riding in the rear of Souza. All three were picked up unconscious and they were rushed to St. Joseph's hospital in the ambulance. Souza was immediately placed on the operating table and it is said that his chances for recovery are slim.

FURTHER CLOSING IN BY TEUTONIC TROOPS

Advances on Fortress of Brest-Litovsk,
the Stronghold of New Russian Line,
Reported — Prince Leopold Gains
Ground—Balkan Crisis Near Climax

Advances recorded in the German official statement today represent a further closing in by Teutonic troops on the fortress of Brest-Litovsk, the stronghold of the new Russian line of defense.

Prince Leopold of Bavaria, who yesterday reported a defeat of the Russians near Lysyok, 19 miles east of Siedle, which the Germans took late last week, today occupied Lysyok and Miedzyrzec, the latter place about 25 miles in a westerly direction from Siedle. Afterwards the Russians were beaten in a stand east of Lysyok and were pursued, the Berlin statement says. These operations were within 40 miles of Brest-Litovsk.

Still closer to the fortresses are the armies of Field Marshal von Mackensen, which on Saturday were reported within 40 miles of the stronghold. Since then they have advanced northward in pursuit of the Russians, marching toward Brest-Litovsk along both banks of the Bug.

7000 Russians Captured
Other successes are reported for the Germans between the Narva and the Bug, together with the capture of an advanced position at the fortress of Kovno and the taking in these sectors of nearly 7000 Russian prisoners.

Despite German successes, Petrograd military observers do not take a pessimistic view of the situation looking for a determined stand by the Russians as their new line is reached.

Operations on the western front were relatively unimportant. An engagement toward the southern end of the line near Ammerztwil appears to have been indecisive, neither the French nor the Germans claiming any notable advance.

In the Balkans
The parliaments of Serbia and Greece meet today and important developments in the Balkan situation are expected. Capitals of the entente allies hope for a speedy agreement among the Balkan powers by which their concerted aid may be given the allied cause, but predictions of quick action to this end are lacking. Observers of the trend of diplomatic interchanges recognize many difficulties in view of the reluctance of Serbia and Greece to grant the territorial claims of Bulgaria.

Military activity is increasing along the Austro-Serbian frontier. Exchanges of artillery fire at Belgrade have been followed by Serbian bombardment of defenses before the village of Dobro on the Danube. Heavy concentration of Teutonic forces on the edge of the Balkan region is reported.

A German submarine has sunk the Norwegian steamer Albia, a 1381 ton vessel. The crew escaped.

BOTH SIDES SHOW THE EFFECTS OF INTENSITY OF WARSAW STRUGGLE

LONDON, Aug. 16, 12.05 p. m.—Military operations in the eastern field are developing slowly. Both sides show effects of the intensity of the Warsaw struggle. The German advance now centers on the efforts of Field Marshal von Hindenburg to force troops across the Dvina and eastward in the general direction of Petrograd and the near approach of the army of Prince Leopold of Bavaria to the new Brest-Litovsk defense. Notwithstanding the steady pressure of the Germans, the Russians have succeeded thus far in holding them west of the Dvina.

The Balkan Situation
The Balkan crisis is drawing near a climax. The national assemblies of Serbia and Greece met today, with the probability of a definite decision as regards Bulgaria's territorial demands, upon which hinges the question of United action of the Balkan states with the allies. In the best posted quarters here the outlook is regarded with a degree of pessimism. It is expected Serbia will seek a compromise and Greece will reject the Bulgarian contentions.

King of Greece for Neutrality
Reports from Athens indicate that King Constantine is insisting that the new cabinet must maintain strictest neutrality, the effect of which would be to withhold Greece from participating in a plan of united Balkan cooperation with the allies.

CARRANZA WILL NOT HOLD UP U. S. APPEAL

Bishop of Vera Cruz Released
From Prison—Villa Garrison Revolted—Fighting on Borde.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Assurances that General Carranza will not obstruct delivery of the Pan-American appeal to Mexico, reached the state department today in a message from C. R. Parker of the American embassy staff in Mexico City saying Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, Carranza's commander there, had "promised safe conduct to the messengers who are to carry the appeal to Gen. Zapata and others."

Detention Among Americans
Parker also reported detention among Americans in the capital and said those were being aided by American embassy attaches, had asked to be sent to the United States.

A message from Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz reported that the bishop of Vera Cruz, who had been imprisoned by Carranza for some time, had been released.

Advices from Monterey said Villa forces under Misallo Hernandez and Thoul Madero, had advanced within nine leagues of the city.

Consul Silliman has been stricken by the hot weather, but his illness is not serious.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 16.—A detachment of United States cavalry patrol was fired on last night from the Mexican side of the Rio Grande near Mercedes about 30 miles up the Rio Grande from here. The firing occurred at Progreso. The cavalrymen returned the fire and the shooting from the Mexican side stopped. There were no casualties among the American troops.

James O'Hearn, for drunkenness, was sent to the state farm.

Statutory Offense
Charles W. Whitney and Mary McPolia have been leading a degraded life for the past few months, according to the testimony of Sergt. Petrie, who caused their arrest Saturday evening. It seems that both occupied a room in Kirk street and word as to their conduct reached the ears of the sleuth, who set out to investigate both were sent to the station. Whitney and the young woman were both found guilty of a statutory offense. The man was sentenced to the house of correction for three months and he appealed, while the young woman was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory, sentence being suspended until tomorrow.

Assault and Battery
Louis Lavigne was found guilty of assault and battery on a 10-year old girl and he was given a suspended sentence to the house of correction.

Nicholas Connolly for assault and battery upon his wife was given a suspended sentence of four months to the common jail.

Disturbing the Peace
Frank Laba and Stanislaw Bedra were caught in the act of pounding each other in Merrimack street yesterday and both were fined $10 each this morning. It seems, according to the arresting officer's testimony that the two men were giving a real pugilistic exhibition before a gathering of over a hundred people. The men denied their guilt, each claiming he was assaulted by the other.

Hormisdas Houle will spend the next three months in jail, while his wife, Lena, will solemn at the same place for the next two months.

James Brown admitted assaulting Wong Sung but he promised to make things right with his victim and his case was placed on file on payment of costs.

Illegal Sale
According to Inspector Bigelow and Patrolman O'Sullivan, Evangelos Papachristos and Costas Pappas, men engaged in delivering beer cases, were caught in the act of selling their goods in Prince street Saturday.

The officers claim they hailed the men on the street and asked each of them the price of a case of beer. The officers claim they were informed $1.25 apiece after which they asked the drivers to deliver a couple of cases in a nearby house. Just as the men were removing the cases, they were both placed under arrest on a charge of illegal selling. The defendants were brought to court this morning and after entering a plea of not guilty had the cases continued to Aug. 24. D. J. Donohue appeared for Pappas, while John J. Harvey represented the man with the long name.

Unlicensed Peddler
Leonidas Belletos when confronted with a charge of peddling without a license, informed the court his license ran out and he forgot to renew it. He was fined $2.

Frank Bredin pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with converting mortgaged property and sentence was deferred till tomorrow. Several drunken offenders were fined $8, while others were released.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING
Young Man Taken From Concord River in Unconscious Condition This Morning

James Hyland, a young man residing in the rear of 75 Union street, had a narrow escape from drowning this morning, when he was rescued from the Concord river this morning, while bathing in the rear of the Lowell Electric Light plant. Hyland, who could not swim, got beyond his depth and his cries for help attracted the attention of his companions, who were at the time dressing on the river bank. He was pulled out by a youth named Walter Murray and others. He was in an unconscious state when the boys got him to the bank. They summoned the ambulance. He was later taken to his home.

IN THE PULPITS

Rev. Dr. Bartlett Occupied Pulpit in the Kirk Street Church

Rev. William A. Bartlett, D. D., occupied the pulpit at the Kirk Street church Sunday morning. It was a union service of the Congregational churches and there was a large congregation present. Dr. Bartlett has come to this church for an August service since he was pastor of the church several years ago. His subject was, "The Word and the Deed."

"Every age is an age of great questions and tremendous crises and national and world issues. But when you come to trace down the history of this nation without knowing George Washington, you cannot understand the Civil war and its outcome without studying the character of Lincoln. You cannot estimate the condition of Europe without looking into the heart of the German Kaiser. So we trace to a person the vast movements of the peoples. You cannot know a church, till you discover the strongest personality. You will not understand the family until you are told of the individuals in it. The standing or falling of a city can be traced to one or two men, who have power to make good or to fail in their promises."

"The dishonest, grafting and selfish world is saying, but not doing. And the strong, stable world is doing more than it promised, is making good. And therein it is like God. The entrance into blessedness is to be based on this. Then man with a buried talent goes into outer darkness, where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth. The one who has been true to his word shall hear Christ say, 'Well done, good and faithful servant. Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of the Lord. Yea, thou spakest with thy mouth and hast fulfilled it with thy heart, and this is thy day.'"

Calvary Baptist Church

At the Calvary Baptist church Sunday morning, Rev. Samuel Russell preached morning and evening, his subject in the morning being "The Union of Christ and the Believer," and in the evening, "The Deepest Well in the World." The evening sermon included lessons drawn from the account of Jesus meeting the women of Samaria at Jacob's well. When Christ asked the woman for a drink of water, if she had only known what he would have been here willing to give to him. If the preacher said in standing in the way of so many today of accepting Christ. Christ raised the curiosity of the woman by telling of the well of living water that would keep her from ever thirsting. Christ saw a well deeper than Jacob's well; it was the woman's soul and before he could fill it with living water he began digging with the pick of truth by telling her all her past life and persuading her to accept the water of life.

AT SALISBURY BEACH

DAY OF EXCITING EVENTS—IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED—CONTENTION OVER LEASES

The beach hotels, after a period of very unfavorable weather, expect to reap their harvest during the remainder of the present month and the first week of September. The Lowell colony at Hampton is larger than ever while a very considerable number of Lowell families are occupying cottages at Salisbury, the best beach for sea bathing in New England.

The chief events of interest last week were all crowded into Thursday. First the fire, then the exhibition of ex-Alderman Daly from Black Rocks to Hampton, a distance of between five and six miles, and finally a splendid exhibition of fireworks in the evening. This attracted about 10,000 people and fully 500 automobiles were parked in the main square and the adjoining streets. The exhibition cost about $150 and was almost as good as that given on the South common, in this city in the Fourth of July celebration but the pieces were not quite so numerous.

Mr. Daly's Swim

Mr. Daly's swim attracted attention and caused excitement all along the beach. He had planned to enter the water at 10 o'clock as the tide at that hour was most favorable, but he was delayed till 11 by the fire, as his brother George and Charles Clark, who followed him in a boat, were interested spectators of the fire and could not be induced to leave until they were convinced that the rest of the beach was not doomed. As a result of the delay Mr. Daly had to swim against the receding tide in the last two miles of the course. The performance under the circumstances was equal to far as it went to that of some of the champion swimmers. Mr. Daly could have gone ten miles without exhaustion as he came out of the water fresh and vigorous. He helped to row the boat back to the Centre or over half the course.

The fire

It is but natural that even a small fire should cause great alarm at Salisbury with the memory of two great fires that nearly swept the entire beach still fresh in the minds of the people.

On Thursday morning about 8 o'clock, just as the beach was well packed with bathers in the water and others loitering in the sand, the sight of smoke and flames rising high in the air at Black Rocks spread general alarm. People from all cities accustomed to the dash of a fire department either in horse-drawn or motor vehicles, looked with much curiosity for the appearance of the fire-fighters at Salisbury. Sure enough, word of the fire was promptly sent by telephone to the police, to the life savers and to Chief Hunt of the fire department.

The entire apparatus of the fire department, a reel of hose mounted on a hand cart, was loaded on a truck and sent along the boulevard towards the scene of the fire as far as the boulevard has been finished. But it was still half a mile to the fire and the path lay over loose sand. It would take the firemen from a half to three quarters of an hour to lug the hose cart that distance over the sand.

Accordingly the volunteer firemen waited for the electric car which they expected along in from 15 to 20 minutes. The car arrived at the end of that time, the hose was loaded on and taken to within a hundred yards of the fire.

By this time the cottage was enveloped in flames so that if the Lowell fire department was there with half a dozen streams, they could not save the structure. A hydrant affording a good supply of water for a single effort, was on hand. It furnished a pressure of 90 pounds and this the volunteer firemen said was the only thing that saved the whole line of cottages along the water front from destruction. The spectators failed to understand just how the mere existence of such a pressure was such a magical effort.

When the firemen got to work the cottage on fire was practically destroyed. It was known as the Harbor View Villa and had quite a history. It was once the old pavilion to which picnics were run from Lowell and other cities down the Merrimack. It was owned by Joseph Erickson, of Haverhill, and was valued at $1500, although insured for a sum very much less. It was held under lease and although it has been observed that some cottages have taken fire about the time the lease expired, yet in this case the fire was purely accidental, as one of the occupants, Mr. Ricker, lost a roll of bills amounting to $127.

All that remained of the cottages after the fire was a few burned boards of the first floor and the posts of the cellar. Even the furniture, with the exception of a few chairs, was all burned. The owner of the furniture thrown out on the sand, caught fire later and were destroyed, as the fire was so fiercely hot that nobody dare venture close enough to save them.

There were about 25 volunteer firemen, all callmen who are paid only for the fire which they respond. There were also volunteer life savers. U. S. coast guards from Plum Island, and the Salisbury police department under Chief Bachmann, who arrived in time to see the last stages of the fire and to give some directions as to the removal of the bodies. The chief efforts of the firemen were directed to saving "The Mistake," a cottage only a few yards from the one that was destroyed. It is owned by George Taylor of Haverhill. It would certainly have been burned down but for the steady stream poured upon it by the firemen. One side of it was so badly burned that it will have to be reshingled. The furniture of this cottage was removed and much of it was burned on the sand by the brands from the fire.

The Aftermath

After the fire the cottage owners began to inquire why the boulevard wasn't finished up to the edge of the Merrimack. The sum of $20,000 was appropriated by the town of Salisbury for the purpose and half a mile of the road remains to be constructed. The mode of building a boulevard over the loose sand is different from Commissioner Morse's method of road building. A lot of railroad sleepers are laid down to form the road bed. Over this is spread a layer of gravel. This is rolled and oiled so as to form an adhesive surface and under the traffic of autos and motor trucks becomes a fairly good road.

The demand is put up to the town to finish this "boulevard" from the Centre through the South End to Black Rocks and in all probability the present season will see it completed.

It will be a great convenience to parties going down the river by steamer from Haverhill.

Another demand is also made and is a very sensible one. It is that stations be established at intervals of from a half to a quarter of a mile apart at which a reel of fire hose will be kept for emergency use. It would have to be near a hydrant and to be fitted with the necessary couplings. It is not certain that the town will go to this expense to improve the fire protection, although the improvement will come in time. The cottagers at present have to pay such high insurance rates, $30 per $1000, that many of them go uninsured, preferring to take the chance of losing all in a night or perhaps in broad daylight as was the case with the Harbor View Villa and another cottage in the vicinity burned two months ago.

Lights Needed

Another improvement greatly needed is the lighting of the new cement walk. At present in a distance of about four miles there but one arc light and the light on the front of Coulson's cottage, together with the illumination of the roller coaster, the revolving swings and the hotel signs at the Centre.

Contention Over Leases

At present it appears that the Salisbury Beach Associates have things much their own way in regard to the ownership of the beach lots.

There is one great source of contention in which the Associates claim to have the best of the cottagers. It arises from the construction put upon the so-called second leases. When any lot was leased a second time, the lease provided that the lessee would leave the lot or the property just as it was at the time the lease was executed. Under that clause, it is alleged, no lessee can remove the building from any lot and that unless the lessee is willing to buy the lot at the price fixed by the syndicate, he loses his building. Several buildings have already been forfeited in this manner, but the validity of the article has not yet been tested in court. In some cases parties whose leases had expired moved away the buildings with their own way in regard to the ownership of the beach lots.

Mr. and Mrs. William Burrows of the Sacred Heart parish are at the Thistle cottage for two weeks. With them is their daughter, Miss Gertrude, of The Sun office. Miss Kate Dolan of Chambers street is also at the Thistle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Daly were among the families who returned from Salisbury Saturday.

Mr. James McNamee of Concord street has gone to Salisbury for a week.

Sergeant Ryan's Joke

Soon after Sergt. Ryan reached the beach he "got on" to the "imposing" police force and its methods. The officers from Chief Bachmann to "Stealthy Steve" and the patrolmen, of whom there are several, go about the streets and walks wearing slouch hats and smoking delicious cigars. Of course it is nobody's business where the cigars come from, but it is a rare sight to see an officer on the street minus the cigar, which with the slouch hat seems to be the insignia of his office. The beach "cops" were conducting a special crusade against drunks and fast auto driving. Sergt. Ryan reached the beach in an auto, not the one driven by Chief Welch, but another just as fast. It was eyed with suspicion by one of the beach sleuths, but as it slowed up on reaching the square there was no demonstration. The sergeant got the tip, however, that he was a marked man and that if he ventured to do any more speeding along the boulevard, he would be pinched. One of the "cops" off duty was pointed out to him and Bert immediately accosted him with "Say, Mister, can you tell me where there is an express office in this locality? I came here yesterday and I am already disgusted with the place. A man can scarcely cross this square with his family without being in danger of being run over. Yesterday a friend of mine was knocked down by an auto over there at the dance hall. Today while coming down the walk from the North End I had to step over a man lying drunk and apparently dead to the world. There is no police protection in this place. I want to go to Hampton. Where's the express office?"

"I will see Mr. Coulson about conditions on this beach," continued the sergeant as he turned to go.

The Salisbury cop eyed him with a wild stare and in a tone of appeal said: "Oh, no, don't go to Coulson, see Chief Bachmann."

"I guess not," said Bert. "I attempted to complain to one of the officers yesterday, but when I went up to speak to him I found him asking a man for a chew of tobacco. That sealed my opinion of the cops on this beach."

"I will see Coulson or the selectmen before I go to Hampton."

The astonished beach cop cut for headquarters to have a conference with his chief. A search was made for the drunken man and there was greater vigilance against auto speeding.

Charles Clark of the local telephone office spent the last two weeks at the beach with the Mickala family with whom he returned Saturday. Mr. Clark, who is a skilled amateur photographer, had his camera with him and secured a fine selection of views, one of the best being that of the high waves during the big storm of Aug. 11.

Rev. Fr. Dacey, O. M. L. with his mother, is still at Invaloo. Fr. Dacey has taken some delightful auto trips along the beaches north and south of Salisbury.

$200,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE IN UPPER ROCHESTER, 200 MILES FROM RENO
RENO, Nev., Aug. 16.—Twelve buildings constituting about half of the business section of Upper Rochester are in ruins today as the result of a fire which burned for several hours yesterday. The loss is estimated at $200,000. Upper Rochester is a gold and silver camp in Humboldt county about 200 miles east of here.

LADY LOOKABOUT

The indignation protests which prompted not long since from pulpits, press, and public alike, against the so-called animal dances, seem to have died a natural death, not because the dances have come to be tolerated, but because much that was objectionable in them has been eliminated. This elimination has not been wholly in accordance with the long and loud protests. But because articles of property who do not keep their premises in a sanitary condition. These prosecutions have been made in the interest of the anti-fly crusade and are to be highly commended as an effort to diminish the number of breeding places of that conveyer of disease, the common house-fly. These prosecutions should serve as a warning to parties here in our own city who are extremely negligent as to the disposal of garbage. The city does its part in furnishing men and wagons for its removal, but when it is contained in open receptacles, often brimming full, it is difficult to maintain sanitary conditions. Some very respectable looking front yards do not suggest the unclean for lack

SULLIVAN'S BIG SWIM

THE MOST IMPORTANT SWIMMING EVENT IN YEARS COMES OFF NEXT SATURDAY

All followers of aquatics are looking forward eagerly to Aug. 21, when the great match swim between Sam Richards, South Boston's wonderful endurance swimmer, and Henry F. Sullivan of English Channel fame will be staged. Sullivan is a Lowell boy and the son of Thomas B. Sullivan, the well known Centralville shoe dealer.

The feat which the two noted men will attempt to accomplish will be without a doubt one of the most formidable nautical performances seen in a long time, and the winner will be entitled to the championship long distance swimming laurels.

Starting from Nantasket beach, the swimmers will attempt to plough their way through Massachusetts and Cape Cod bays to Race Point, Provincetown, a distance said to be between 40 and 50 miles in a straight line.

Rugged Performers

On the basis of past accomplishments, no two swimmers probably are better qualified for such an undertaking as Richards and Sullivan. Rugged of frame and strong of limb, both nautical possess the two prime essentials of championship long distance swimmers—speed and stamina. Sullivan is recognized to be the fastest swimmer in the world employing the breast stroke.

Richards has four times succeeded in swimming from Charlestown bridge to Boston light, and he holds a record for the course that has never been equalled.

In August, 1913, he performed the unprecedented feat of swimming to the light and back. On this occasion he was in the water 13 hours and 9 minutes. In New York waters Richards has successfully ploughed the distance from the Battery to Sandy Hook, and he defeated Charles M. Durbin, the wealthy Philadelphia webfoot, in a special match race on the Delaware river.

English Channel Swim

The deeds of the Lowell natator are also way out of the ordinary, he having covered the Boston light course in 6 hours and 21 minutes on his first attempt. This was in 1912, while the following summer he went abroad and made a grand attempt to swim the English channel.

He was forced to give up the attempt when a heavy storm came up after he was in the water over 10 hours. He was then only 5 miles from the French coast and would have continued only for being followed and pulled into a small boat and brought back to the launch which followed him. The pilot of the boat said the Lowell boy put up the most wonderful exhibition of endurance he ever witnessed, but this statement was of little comfort to Sullivan who had trained months for the swim, only to be forced to quit against his own will. The pilot of the boat would not proceed any farther than the distance covered as he said it would mean sure death to the members of the party on account of the dangerous reefs on the French coast and the storm which had just arisen.

Sullivan went abroad again last summer with the avowed intention of accomplishing the great task, but he was prevented from so doing by the war.

C. Y. M. L. Colors

Both Sullivan and Richards are members of the L. street Swimming club, but Richards will swim independently on August 21. Sullivan will swim under the colors of the C. Y. M. L., and a number of the members of the Suffolk street institution will accompany him in a boat.

The distance is between 40 and 50 miles without taking into consideration the drift of the tide. The swimmers expect to be in the water 24 hours or more and count on reaching their destination in 24 hours. In case neither swimmer reaches the goal buoys will be dropped down and the man who is nearer the finish will be declared the winner.

Sullivan has unlimited confidence that he is unbeatable in long distance swimming and that he can fight the water just as strong as any swimmer in the game today. He paid a visit to his father and John Conlan, his trainer, Wednesday afternoon but did not stay long and journeyed back to Winthrop to continue his training stunts which consist of 7 hours in the water daily.

MISS KERSHAW WINNER

REVERE GIRL SWIMS FROM BATHHOUSE TO NAHANT IN TWO HOURS, 41 MINUTES

REVERE, Aug. 15.—Ethel Kershaw, 15 years old, entered the list of famous swimmers yesterday afternoon when she swam from the state bathhouse to Nahant in 2h 41m. It was Miss Kershaw's first long-distance swim, but accompanied by Frank Murphy of Lowell, she successfully completed the task.

Miss Kershaw's father is a life guard at the beach, and she was cheered by a large crowd when she entered the water. The greeting, however, upon her return to Revere was tremendous.

Murphy, who was coach and pilot, shaped a diagonal course toward the Graves Light and depended upon the wind to carry his charge back to Nahant.

She was stricken with cramps while in the Lynn channel, but she worked them off, and again within 200 yards of her goal she was attacked, but again managed to rid herself of the cramps and finished fairly strong.

GREAT BALL PLAYING

LOWELL TOOK DOUBLE HEADER FROM LAWRENCE BY CLASSY WORK

Over 1000 Lowell people trolleyed and jined to Lawrence for Penman day Saturday and were amply rewarded for going down as Lowell won a double-header and put up a game that was worth going miles to see.

The pennant-raising ceremonies were of the usual nature, a concert by the Lawrence Brass band, which kept the crowd tuned up with all popular selections. Then a procession to the flagpole of both teams and the lifting to the top of the pole of the league pennant, gracefully conveyed aloft by Old Glory to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner, while the immense audience stood uncovered. President Tim Murnane of the New England league was selected to lift the flag, but he was unavoidably detained at Fenway park and hence another good, strong man was found who did the job.

The two games were better seen than described. Both teams were out to win and went along with absolute fairness and not a murmur of protest or a word that would offend the most sensitive of the spectators, of whom 4952 paid to get in and there were enough guests to send the total attendance over the 5000 mark.

Old Zeke Lohman collected in the first game and those who thought that Zeke wasn't there were loudly shouting his praises after the game. He had duo control and allowed but two hits in the entire game. Zeke also contributed two hits in that game and was right there in every respect. In the second game Paddy Green was the mound artist and perhaps Paddy didn't shine. For five innings Lawrence didn't get a look in. Paddy mowed them down to an inning or thereabouts. In the sixth Flaherty hit by second base for a single and the crowd took courage. Harris was put in as a pinch-hitter and Paddy fanned him. Then came the all-conquering Harry Thompson and Paddy laid him low. Along comes Bill Luyter, the mighty pitcher and Bill topped a little.

Everybody sat up and took notice at the way third base was covered for Lowell. Manager Keckner put in a colt named Eddie Dwyer from Belmont, Pa. in the Corn league. Dwyer covered great ground and made a one-hand stop over third base and a successful throw to third base such as Boston used to give Jimmie Collins and brick blocks for making.

The entire team played with much ginger and Chuck Barrows having in mind the fact that he has only three weeks to go to keep at the top of the league batters made two hits with four times up that helped materially.

Harry Thompson was on the mound for Lawrence, his record up to this time being 15 won and 4 lost and the last nine straight wins. Great things were expected of him, but the Red Sox couldn't have defeated Lowell Saturday.

Two errors contributed largely to Lawrence's only run in the first game, but they were subsequently excused. Oesterger hit to Moulton who, after getting in front of the ball, gave it a beat. Lohman threw to first to catch Oesterger napping, but Munn dropped the ball and Oesterger took second and scored on O'Connell's double.

Lowell opened up in the fourth, tying the score. Swayne got a single and went to second on Moulton's sacrifice. Stimpson hit a hot one over Conley's head for a single, but Bobbar knocked it down so that Swayne was held on third. Barrows hit a fly to deep left center and O'Connell made a beautiful catch, but Swayne scored. In the sixth Lohman copped a run. He made an infield hit to Warner and took second on Jake's ball throw to first. Swayne's single sent him to third and he came home on Moulton's long fly.

Lowell put the game on ice in the eighth with three big runs. Ahearn and Lohman made singles. Walter was thrown out on Swayne's unsuccessful attempt to sacrifice. Zeke scored on Stimpson's hit to deep right field. Barrows scored Moulton on a long sacrifice fly.

Lowell's two runs in the second game were made in the sixth inning. Swayne made the first run on a two-bagger to right field, but all he had to do was to touch all the bases as he went around for he never stopped as Luyter's ball throw went through Warner and sailed down to the right foul field, while Harry merrily rolled along home. Moulton singled and took second on Stimpson's sacrifice. Barrows hit through Warner and Moulton scored the second run.

WRENN WON SWIM

LOWELL'S ALL ROUND ATHLETE IS NOW CHAMPION SWIMMER

By successfully covering the eight-mile stretch of water between the Tyngsboro bridge and the Vesper boat-house Saturday afternoon in remarkable time, Michael Wrenn, the well known all round athlete won the championship long distance swimming laurels of Lowell and vicinity. Wrenn finished 300 yards ahead of Maloney, and about 700 yards ahead of Eddie McCormack. John Moriarty finished in fourth position and Louis Bellerose, an 18-year-old youngster from Perkins street was fifth. The other two entrants, Curry and Boyle dropped out of the race below North Chelmsford. Wrenn's time, as given out by the officials of the race was, two hours, 23 minutes and 8 seconds.

A crowd of 300 or more people lined the banks of the Merrimack river in Tyngsboro before the start of the race, while motorboats and canoes lay in waiting near the river banks for the pistol shot which would start the mermen over the long course. Out of 10 entries, only seven contestants started.

A few minutes after 1:30 o'clock, the swimmers were called to the starting point, and after receiving final instructions from the judges they were sent on their way by a shot from Jackson Palmer's gun.

Commodore "Jim" Walker was in charge of the official boat which followed the swimmers over the course. Seated in the official boat were: Starter Jackson Palmer; Judges, Edward Winans, New England representative of the Ajax-Grieb Rubber Co.; Peter Pfeiffer, representative for the Klaxon service; Samuel Scott, Gerald F. Beane of the Sun and Miss Jeanne Greenwood of Sydney, Australia, who was a guest of Mr. Winans.

Wrenn immediately went into the lead at the start of the race, but Maloney soon caught up to him and the two swam together until the last quarter mile. The other contestants were bunched behind, a distance of 50 yards separating Boyle, the last man, and the leaders in the first five minutes of the contest. The swimmers made a decided mistake in not taking the right hand side of the river where the stream was at its strongest and chose the North Chelmsford side which was shady.

For the first fifteen minutes, Wrenn and Maloney swam neck and neck, while about 25 yards in the rear, McCormack and Curry were battling for third position. Moriarty and Bellerose were swimming together about 40 yards from the leaders, while Boyle was even at this early period, hopelessly distanced. Wrenn was using a breast stroke, and Maloney alternated with a trudgeon and crawl stroke.

After passing the Country club, Wrenn and Maloney had several exciting sprints, Maloney evidently trying to tire Wrenn by this means. But it didn't tire Mike, and after catching Maloney he would settle down to a steady breast stroke.

At the bridge spanning the river near the Country club Maloney was in the lead by three feet, with Wrenn second, and McCormack and Curry in third and fourth positions respectively. During the next five minutes Curry pulled down a 35 yard lead on McCormack, and the two swam side by side for the next quarter mile.

About a half mile below North Chelmsford, Wrenn and Maloney made a wonderful exhibition of speed, Wrenn going into the lead. McCormack was in third position, with a 100 yard lead on Curry, and Moriarty and Bellerose were over a half mile in the rear. Boyle still stayed in the water and gave a wonderful exhibition of pluck, for he was in no condition for the long grind, and his strokes lacked power to carry him along.

Wrenn and Maloney sided together up until the last quarter mile, when Maloney swam to the channel side of the river. Wrenn at this time started to use the crawl and trudgeon strokes and during the next five minutes he established a 50 yard lead on Maloney. Maloney tried to follow him in the sprint but exhausted himself in so doing, and he was barely able to finish. Wrenn pulled into the landing at the boathouse before the eyes of several hundred spectators. He was in excellent shape and got out of the water without assistance. He was given a great hand by the crowd as were the other contestants when they have in sight. Curry and Boyle were taken to the landing in canoes. Maloney finished a few minutes after Wrenn, and had to be helped out of the water. Moriarty finished about 7 minutes later, and Bellerose arrived 10 minutes behind the other two. Wrenn, Bellerose was in an exhausted state, and when he was pulled out of the water he had to be helped to the dressing room provided for the swimmers.

After the swimmers had been limbered out by their attendants, Mr. Wrenn was called to the landing and presented first prize, a huge silver cup, by Harry Pitts, the promoter of the race, who also took occasion to congratulate him on his fine showing. Mr. Pitts also presented Maloney with a silver cup as second prize.

JOE HOUSER BEATEN BY WEST-FORD AFTER PITCHING A GREAT GAME—OTHER GAMES

Talk about hard luck, Joe Houser, Lowell's crack pitcher, having a day off Saturday and desirous of keeping in practice, went out to Graniteville and pitched against Westford. He allowed but two scratch hits in the entire game and struck out 11, but alas, Powers who got one of the two as leaguers, went to third on two passed balls by the catcher and scored on a squeeze play. Spinner, the Graniteville catcher, had considerable difficulty holding Joe's deceivers. Houser got one of Graniteville's five hits. The score was 1 to 0. Knight pitched for Westford.

The South Ends and the Diamond Springs had another close game Saturday. The local boys coming out on top this time by a score of 4 to 3. A big crowd was in attendance and they saw a fine game. The South Ends got only four hits, while the visitors got eight off Devlin. There's a rubber game coming, probably at Spalding park.

The Diamonds defeated the Tewksbury town team 4 to 5 Saturday. Briggs who pitched for Tewksbury allowed only three hits.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Lowell at Lawrence tomorrow.

Dwyer played a fine game at third.

Both Lohman and Green performed like a couple of big leaguers.

Walter Ahearn caught the two games under the worst kind of difficulties. He had a bad leg and a bad finger on the bare hand.

It looks as if no one will head Barrows as the league's leading batter this season.

Tim Murnane didn't go to Lawrence Saturday as per schedule—but then, neither did Pennington.

Jesse Burkett has dually put himself in bad all around on account of his conduct on the diamond in visiting cities.

There's considerable internal dissension in the Worcester team, which would indicate that the city needs a new deal relative to its baseball team.

It looks from all appearances as if Lowell would make a fine finish and give the fans a baseball for the remaining three weeks.

Arthur Irwin it is said, has recently given evidence to the effect that the gold brick game can be worked successfully in baseball as well as on the festive agriculturalist.

When the result of the first Lewiston-Portland game, 3 to 4, Portland, was announced at Lawrence Saturday, there was an eloquent silence for the announcement together with the fact that Lawrence was being beaten a double-header convinced the fans that Lawrence no longer had hope of the pennant this year.

The Oxford club borrowed the Lawrence Mfg. Co.'s battery to use against the Kimball System team in their game Saturday, but all batteries look alike to the sign painters and they scored another victory on the combination 3 to 2, in a well played game. The Klans announce that they will play any team in Lowell for fun, money, or many beams.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A sensational expose of the alleged existence of a widespread official German propaganda in the United States to influence American public opinion against the allies, to secure the exportation of American-made munition to Germany, which in its issue yesterday, presented letters and other proofs showing evidence of a widespread plot. The facts set forth are based upon correspondence exchanged by representatives of the German government, its agents and sympathetic allies in this country, which has come into possession of the World.

This correspondence reveals that the leading officials of the German government have had a hand in the promotion of ventures directed not alone at its belligerent enemies with whom it is at war, but in some instances, at the laws of the United States as well.

AUTO IN 25 FOOT DROP

PLEASURE PARTY OF 22 IN ACCIDENT—19 INJURED—TWO MAY DIE

WRENTHAM, Aug. 16.—Nineteen persons were injured, two of them perhaps fatally, when an auto truck carrying 22 passengers from Pawtucket, R. I., to Revere beach collided with a seven-passenger automobile about a mile from this town at 1.15 yesterday afternoon. The truck went over a 25-foot embankment and turned over on its side.

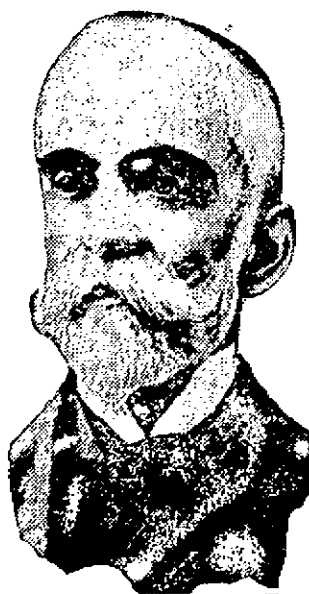

Dona Goyette, 16, of 145 Jamaica street, Pawtucket and Elizabeth Mayer, 21, of 322 School street, Central Falls, were seriously injured and may die.

Five physicians were called and an ambulance and several automobiles took the injured to Memorial hospital. Three priests aided in the relief work. The accident happened on Washington street, at a narrow place in the highway. It is alleged that the passenger car was attempting to pass the truck when the right rear wheel struck the left forward wheel of the truck and the truck swerved and toppled over the embankment.

Mr. Pettie, owner of the truck, said last night that the driver of the automobile, gave him a card bearing the name of Howard S. Andrews, 26 Snow street, Providence. The card also bore the name of James C. Tucker. There seemed to be a doubt as to which was the driver.

Worcester Man Killed

MILLER'S FALLS, Aug. 16.—Raymond Richardson, 19, of 84 Madison street, Worcester, was killed and John Killeen, Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard and Michael Ennis, all of Worcester, were injured when the automobile in which they were riding turned over here yesterday morning.

The party, which was en route to Belknap Falls, Vt., on a surprise visit to Richardson's wife, left Worcester at 3 a. m. They had just reached the state road here when the left rear tire came off, causing the machine to skid, turn turtle and then right itself.

Richardson, whose skull was fractured, died in 30 minutes. The other members of the party, none of whom were seriously injured, were taken to the Sarlen hospital at Montague City.

for the wider goods. In fancy fabrics there has been a very evident change. A few years ago, a great portion of the fancy materials sold were 27 inches wide. Now they are 26 inches and quite often 40 inches. Then, too, some of the manufacturers of staple colored goods have been forced to add similar lines which are wider than those previously produced. All of this development has been caused by changes in the ideas of buyers, and by the somewhat improved manufacturing conditions. As more cloth is taken by the garment producer, it has been found desirable to increase the width, inasmuch as the wide fabrics will cut to much better advantage.

In a great many instances the narrow fabrics cannot be used today at all and will not be purchased by buyers. With any greater demand from cutters-up, it is very likely that more manufacturers would be forced into delivering wider cloth. There are quite a number of items which manufacturers have overlooked in this development. They naturally have not wanted to throw out narrow looms which are still capable of producing high-class fabrics. It must be admitted, however, that a good many of them installed narrow looms when they ought to have known that the demand would be for wide fabrics, because to those familiar with the market conditions this development has been predicted for a number of years. It is, however, possible to secure in a great many instances a better profit upon the wide fabric than it is upon the narrow one.

There are many manufacturers who have never gone into the matter carefully enough, and do not realize that the cost of production is lower upon the wide fabrics than it is upon the narrow ones, and that quite often a profit can be secured upon the same basis of cost upon the wide fabrics where only cost or less would be secured for the narrow ones. We have pointed this out in quite a number of instances. Then, too, the fact that quite a good many crepes were made and because of the shrinkage upon these fabrics a much wider loom was necessary, has compelled the installation of the wider loom.—American Wool & Cotton Reporter.

Midshipmen Dismissed

DISMISSAL OF TWO AND DISCIPLINING OF 12 FOR ALLEGED "CRIBBING" AT ANNAPOLIS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Dismissal of two midshipmen and the disciplining of 12 others for alleged "cribbing" at the United States naval academy are revealed today as a result of the findings of the court of inquiry which investigated irregularities in examinations and recitations at the academy. The midshipmen dismissed were Ralph M. Nelson, Jr., of Peckskill, N. Y., and Charles P. Weagle of Wellsville, O. The court's recommendation that the others be disciplined was approved by Secretary Daniels.

Drastic changes in the conduct of examinations are recommended by the court in a unanimous report of its inquiry, begun in June. Abolition of the practice of giving out "dope" or advanced information unless heads of departments issue it by memoranda and less rigorous examinations are the principal recommendations.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Merrier and more full of fun than ever before, Elsie Janis comes to the cool Merrimack Square theatre today to stay over Tuesday and Wednesday. She will appear in her most recent success, "Nelly's Land." This play has just been released on the Paramount program. The setting is in the west and many picturesque scenes of Montana ranch life are revealed. In this picture Miss Janis plays the strenuous role of a ranch girl and is called upon to perform many dangerous and unusual stunts and it is needless to state that she goes through them in a perfect manner. It happens that two seek the hand of this winsome ranch girl; one is a titled Englishman and the other is a handsome, dashing American. At first she has much fun with the dude from across the pond, holding him up when he is on a journey and separating him from his money. It is well, however, that she did, for later on the same trip he is accosted by real bandits who

HOLYOKE CARS RUNNING

CARNEN GO BACK TO WORK PENDING HEARING BY ARBITRATION BOARD OF THREE

HOLYOKE, Aug. 16.—Street car service was resumed in this city and Amherst yesterday after nine days in which no passenger car was moved. The 250 trolley men who have been on strike for readjustment of their working schedules without loss of wages, returned to the platforms after a special meeting at which they ratified the arbitration plan proposed by their leader, John H. Reardon of Worcester. By this plan their demands are to be submitted to a board of three, the neutral member of which is to be named by Gov. Walsh. Directors of the Holyoke Street Railway company agreed to this method of settlement late Saturday night.

The men came to the meeting in uniform, at the request of Reardon, and after voting to keep the cars running while their case is in the hands of the arbitrators, marched immediately to the car barns. The first car started for Springfield early yesterday afternoon, and passed city hall through cheering crowds.

Mayor John H. Woods, who called the director of the company into conference Saturday night, and whose arguments resulted in their acceptance of an official statement, accepted the first fare. By late afternoon service had regained normal proportions.

The identity of the neutral arbitrator to be named by Gov. Walsh was a subject of much interest. In announcing his willingness to name such an official, he stated that he would "select such a man as will in my opinion be qualified to serve as a justice in one of our highest courts."

BOY KILLED ON BRIDGE

GREENFIELD LAD FELL INTO WIRES—LEGS NEARLY BURNED OFF

GREENFIELD, Aug. 16.—John Dedinas, 10 years old, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon. He came in contact with high tension wires while at play with other boys in the trestle work of the West End bridge over Green river.

The boys climbed to the structure from the embankment, and while walking young Dedinas slipped and fell into the wires, the full force of 13,200 volts passing through his body. His feet were nearly burned off before the body could be taken down.

The fire department was summoned, and from removed the body, using a noosed rope. He was the son of Fred Dedinas, a truckman, and was one of a family of several children.

ROWDY ROOTING AT BALL GAMES

It is an old and popular practice of the fans at an inter-city baseball game to cheer the home team to victory. It is looked for as a matter of course by the crowds which attend and it gives added zest to the game. Even an occasional sally of wit or a little clean sarcasm is acceptable to the audience. When, however, the practice descends to vulgarity or degenerates into deliberate and studied abuse amounting almost to assault on the visiting manager and his players, it becomes an outrage that cannot be tolerated.

It is a regrettable fact that this variety of rowdiness is growing in Lowell; the game last Friday was a typical instance. License reached its culmination in a display of billingsgate, vulgar abuse, insulting epithets and an exchange of vocal assaults that reached the verge of obscenity. This was all the more to be regretted as Friday was ladies' day at the ball grounds, and the disgraceful exhibition of unportsmanlike conduct was given before many gentlemen with their ladies, family groups and clergymen.

Rowdy rooting at the ball games must be stopped or it will destroy the game. Baseball in itself is clean, manly sport but if decent people cannot attend a game without being treated to a deluge of filthy vulgarity, they will stay at home. The problem is squarely up to the management, and if the management cannot provide amusement without this disgusting spectacle, the Sun cannot consistently advise the people of Lowell to attend the games.

Those responsible for the undesirable actions may be very few, and it seems too bad that they could not be silenced by effective action at the time of the offence. The visiting manager at Friday's game would have been justified in going into the grandstand and giving a sound thrashing to at least one individual. Billingsgate, vulgarity and loose badinage is not sport, and if it cannot be stopped by the management, it must be stopped by an officer of the law. Those in charge had better decide to tolerate it no longer, and objectionable rowdies must be ejected from the grounds. If the patronage of decent people is desired.

Many patrons of the game have already complained to The Sun against such forms of sickening interference with sport and they justly protest against language that would be out of place in the lowest dive in the city. Everybody likes a clean, lively game; everybody likes to see a game cheered in the old legitimate way and nobody objects to a little fair bandying to and fro, but all decent people dislike seeing clean sport spoiled by noisy bums and hoodlums. It is not manly and it is not a good policy from a practical point of view.

Throughout the New England circuit Lowell is becoming noted as the home of abuse that reaches the limit, and goes a little beyond. This is not good for the game, it is not good for the management, and it certainly is not good for Lowell. Such a reputation breeds animosity and gives the city some shameful advertising. It is time that something were done to save Lowell from a notorious and offensive reputation in sporting circles and to conduct the sport so that decent people and their families may go to a game without being subjected to cheap, nauseating and undesirable vulgarity. Let us have no more of it!

ENGLAND AND COTTON.

An interview given to the press by Lord Robert Cecil, parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs, a few days ago, clearly outlines the policy of the British government in the cotton controversy with this country and removes the chance of any misunderstanding owing to a misconception of the American point of view. England clearly understands the basis of the American protest, but feels obliged to oppose it from a sense of national preservation. In this interview there is no attempt at deception, and the English position is explained plainly and pointedly.

It would look at the outset as though there is good ground to hope for a favorable settlement. Lord Robert says: "The allies must by all lawful means prevent cotton reaching their enemies; it may be considered necessary to make cotton contraband." At first sight the term "lawful means" looks hopeful, but it may be that what England considers lawful may be considered very unlawful by this country. All of the belligerents have had a way of interpreting the law as necessary advised, and many times they interpreted it so as to arouse the ire of neutrals.

Further on, the statement does indeed give room for hope, indicating as it does that the American grievance is not considered wholly unreasonable in England. The following is more liberal than one might be led to expect by the previous British stand, or by the notes which the English government has sent from time to time in answer to American protests. Possibly, England is coming to see the matter in a different light:

"In any case, whether cotton is contraband or not, the allies must permit neutral trading in this product. American growers must be given their market in neutral countries, even if they are adjacent to Germany, and the industries of those countries must have the cotton required for their own needs."

"We fully realize that if there is no German and Austrian outlet prices may go down and that Americans will suffer unless some means are devised for compensation. Proposals in that direction have been made and are receiving careful consideration. What will come of them I cannot say at this time."

In conclusion, America is asked to be patient and the assurance is given that every consideration will be given "to the legitimate interests of all neutrals." If England and America could agree as to what is "legitimate" and "lawful" there would be smooth sailing in the future—provided Sir Robert voices the views of his government.

COMPETITION TO COME.

Most of the predictions concerning our trade future are optimistic, but one hears an occasional note of warning. Such is the prediction of Mr. Robert Grimshaw, consulting engineer and lecturer of New York university who says that though the future of the American manufacturer is bright, he must be prepared to meet new and unforeseen competition when the war is over. Mr. Grimshaw speaks from personal observation in some of the belligerent countries, and his arguments are based on the trade outlook in all of the leading nations.

It is the contention of this authority that when the war is over there will be millions of men out of work in the belligerent nations. Many millions of soldiers who are now fighting will return to industrial pursuits, but in the respective organizations and recuperation of the nations, thousands of mills and factories will be closed. Women and children will be employed more extensively than formerly, and men will be obliged to seek other employment at very low wages. The American manufacturer will have to compete with this cheap labor to some extent.

Again, in Germany and Austria many factories are turning out goods for which there is no immediate market. These commodities are being stored, and the markets of the world will be flooded with them when transportation is again provided. It is our hope to secure a permanent footing in foreign markets hitherto supplied by other powers, but we cannot disguise the fact that we must prepare for keen competition.

It is the opinion of this student of affairs that the American manufacturer can overcome all obstacles, provided he sees the true situation and prepares for it. From the government to the private manufacturer, all agencies in this country are working for an immense increase in foreign commerce following the war, and it will not do for any hope to fail through a false sense of security.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

The New York Sun recently conducted an investigation into the high cost of vegetables to consumers with an eye to a suggestion of plans for a reduction, but though some interesting facts were uncovered, no practical plan of relief was formulated. This investigation is only one of many but though all seem to infer that something should be done, nobody seems to know what course ought to be pursued to reduce the high cost of living. In this important particular.

The New York investigation showed that vegetables are more abundant than they have been for years and that the prices at wholesale are relatively low, but that the price to consumers is excessively high. To quote: "It was found that potatoes sell at $1 a barrel, at wholesale, as compared with $1.25 a year ago, while at retail they bring from 10 to 12½ cents a quart, or at the rate of $2.25 or $4 a bushel and $5 and $10 a barrel. Tomatoes sell at wholesale at from 25 to 75 cents a crate, and to the housewife at the rate of four for 10 cents. Onions have been bringing 25 cents a bushel at wholesale as compared with $3 last year, while the price to consumers is as high as it was then."

These figures show that the profit for the major part of it does not go to either the producer or the consumer. The producer is not paid enough in proportion, and the consumer pays too much. Relief will come only when the producer and the consumer are brought closer together, but the problem is to bring relief without doing an injury to any branch of business and yet to make the scheme so practical and attractive that the consumer will take advantage of it.

ZEPPELIN RAIDS.

Reading the account of Zeppelin raids as given out in England and Germany, one wonders if they are taking the part for which they were intended. If so, either the damage wrought is minimized in reporting or they have proved a sorry failure. It may be that their effect was intended to be moral, on the assumption that they would intimidate the English people into suing for peace, but they appear to have had a contrary effect, for after each Zeppelin raid, England seems more determined than ever to fight on until her foe is crushed. It is to be presumed that the latest Zeppelin raids represent their most successful efforts, but the results were slight as judged by the announcements from Germany many months ago. Then, one read a great deal about a coming mighty attack that would destroy London, but to date the Zeppelin attacks have been few and unimportant in a military sense. The raids have now lost their novelty and there is nothing very inspiring in the accounts of the few non-combatants killed and injured in the papers of the morning after.

LIKE OLD TIMES

The political situation looks as though we may have some pretty close and warm contests in this city in a little while as there are a great many energetic rivals for some of the political positions. Even thus early in the game many of the candidates for office are getting in some effective campaign work, and it is apparent that success will be only for the man who works hard and untiringly. While a keen contest is not undesirable in itself, there is always danger that it will degenerate into street corner abuse and an exchange of sorry personalities. Some campaigns of happy memory show all our political candidates what not to do if they would succeed or lose so as to still merit the respect and confidence of decent citizens. No temporary success should cause a man to throw away his reputation for truth and sincerity.

HOW WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—"My left side pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."

—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1163 Constant St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound."

—Mrs. A. WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.

For over thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

at that time, Secretary Daniels is desirous that the old veterans shall be afforded an opportunity to see some of the implements of modern warfare in order to show by contrast with those which were in use a half century ago the progress which has been made since the days when the Grand Army men and their brothers in the navy bore arms. The navy department is planning to have an interesting and impressive naval spectacle which shall include such vessels as may be brought to Washington to represent advances made in the mechanism of naval warfare, and such ships as the Hartford that may have a historical significance and, as well, a contribution of naval personnel to the parade which is bound to arouse enthusiasm.

Real English the Thing Now
"Slip me a brace of chickens!" ordered the blue-looking young man with a bored air, as that purkles they came first stood in the luncheon room, says the Kansas City Journal.

"A what?" asked the waitress, as she placed a glass of water before him.

"Adam and Eve flat on their backs!" A pair of sunbeams!" said the young man in exasperated tone.
"You get me, kid," returned the waitress. "Watcha want?"
"Eggs up," said the young man. "Eggs up," the kind that come before the sun or after. I never knew which."
"Why didn't you say so in the first place?" asked the waitress. "You'd a had 'em by this time."
"Well, of all things!" said the young man.
"I knew what he was driving at all the time," began the waitress, as the young man departed. "But he's one of them fellows that purkles they can't get by with anything. He don't know that they're using plain English now in restaurants."

Sympathy
He never shed a single tear
Nor heaved a tender sigh;
Cold, calculating, sharp and clear
Was every day, his eye.
Always his judgment ruled his deeds,
And reason marked each plan;
But what this old world really needs
Is sympathy from man.

It needs the eyes that fill with tears,
The throats that know the rise
Of choking lumps when grief appears.
Far more than judgment wise,
It needs the hasty hands that do
The gentle things and kind
That holding hearts from them to,
Far more than pulse of mind.

He felt no touch of other's pain,
Nor knew another's woe;
He looked on sentiment as vain,
His heart was cold as snow.
Brain was the god he calmly served,
At every time or place.
He thought it shame to be unnerved,
Tears were to him disgrace.

And yet before all reason calm,
The weeping eyes should be;
The world must have the soothing balm

Of tender sympathy.
I sing the hot, impulsive deeds
That kindly people do,
For these are what the old world needs.

Far more than judgment true.

Dimming Auto Lights

It is noticeable that the practice of dimming automobile headlights when approaching another auto, team or bicyclist is more and more common, and ought to be appreciated by those who are approaching the war, for some of the bright lights of the automobiles are as blinding as are the searchlights on the electric cars, which are now customarily shut off on the approach of a machine. Incidentally, I notice that the Massachusetts highway commissioners with a special committee are conducting an investigation into the best lights for autos to use.

The other day at a demonstration in Brookline, more than a score of different devices were offered. The devices were roughly of three different kinds, though they varied widely in the application of methods. There were in the first class lights with either frosted bulbs or partially frosted lenses, or with the partially colored lenses; in the second division lights with corrugated lenses, and in the third lamps designed to be deflected or turned mechanically. Promoters of the various devices came from Chicago, Detroit, and even as far away as Los Angeles to participate in the test, and local inventors were numerous. Many of those who watched the test felt that it was by no means conclusive and that much more study and investigation will be required before the highway commission will be in a position to recommend a law covering the subject. There were several types of lights that were non-glaring, but objection to them was raised on the point that they did not throw a strong light readily for an advance in illuminating the road properly for all conditions of driving. The mechanically deflected or turned headlights, while admirably suited to the purposes of the driver, were open to the objection that the driver of a car cannot always tell when his lights are bothering the driver of an approaching car or a pedestrian. To nearly all the devices there was the serious objection that they would be costly to install if required on all the cars in the state. The committee that judged the tests along with the highway commissioners will make a report and it may be that the commission will hold further tests before drafting its recommendations.

COTTON IN EXPLOSIVES

Consumers of Cotton Desirous of Knowing Total Quantity Used in all Lines of Business

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 15.—The European war has created an insatiable demand for ammunition. New establishments are being erected for the manufacture of explosives, and the possibility of increased profits is inducing firms engaged in other industries to enter this field. This state of affairs, of course, has an important effect on the price of cotton, which is largely used as a material in the manufacture of explosives.

Director Rogers, of the bureau of census, is carrying on an extensive correspondence in his endeavor to obtain statistics of all establishments using cotton as a material. Consumers of cotton naturally desire to know the total quantity used in all lines of industry, and they can aid in the compilation of accurate statistics by furnishing the census bureau at Washington with the names and addresses of establishments which have begun the use of cotton as a raw material since the commencement of the European war. Mr. Rogers says that a great many letters are being received requesting information as to the quantity of cotton and linters used in the manufacture of explosives. Some express the fear that the bureau is not aware of the extent to which these materials are now being used for this purpose. The director desires to state that the census bureau is aware of the greatly increased demand for cotton linters, and has been endeavoring to collect complete statistics concerning the total quantity used by all consumers of cotton, in compliance with the law which requires monthly reports on this subject.

Unfortunately it is impossible to supply statistics as to the amount of cotton used in the manufacture of explosives alone. The act of congress authorizing the collection of cotton statistics directs the census bureau "to collect and publish statistics concerning . . . the quantity of raw cotton consumed in manufacturing establishments of every character . . . While some manufacturers of explosives purchase the raw cotton and subject it to the necessary process of purification in their own establishments, many of them buy it from other establishments which purify and treat the fiber so as to render it suitable for use in the manufacture of explosives. Many of these establishments prepare cotton not only for manufacturers of explosives but also for manufacturers of wholly different products, and it is not feasible for the census bureau to obtain representative statistics of the amount of purified cotton turned out by such establishments for use in the manufacture of explosives.

There has been a great increase in recent years in the production of linters and hull fiber. Linters are obtained at the oil mills by retaining the cottonseed, the object being to remove the short fibers so that the fine particles of the kernel will not be carried off with the hulls, making possible a greater yield of oil and meat. The total quantity of linters obtained from the crop of 1914 was 11,314 bales of 500 pounds each; but fifteen years later the output of this by-product of the cottonseed-oil industry had increased by more than 600 per cent, the number of bales turned out from the crop of 1911 being 856,930.

Hull fiber is obtained by a treatment of the hulls which breaks up their structure and makes available the short fibers which have not been removed in the delicate process. Several establishments have been engaged in the production of hull fiber for a number of years, and additional ones are taking up this line of manufacture.

The publication of statistics of cotton production and consumption has called public attention to the desirability of similar data concerning numerous other and totally different commodities. The census bureau is receiving numerous requests for such data concerning various articles the production of which has been stimulated by the European war or by economic conditions due in a measure to the war.

There seems to be a general impression that the census bureau is engaged in the collection of such statistics. Director Rogers wishes to emphasize the fact that the work of his bureau is defined and limited by law. He appreciates the importance of statistics concerning the annual production of clothing and food products, of chemicals, of metal and wood products, etc., but congress has not authorized the collection of such statistics and until it does so his bureau cannot undertake the work.

road, with the finest grove in the country. "You can do business with Mr. Varnum," said Mr. Rigby, "for there is no strike attached to this deal. He will dispose of this land for $100 an acre and the city can purchase as much as is needed. The land extends as far as Willow Dale and I believe it can be purchased for less than $150 an acre. Wouldn't it be better for all concerned to choose an isolated site and let people build to it instead of having the city build the hospital at the residences?"

Mayor: "What wrong I do it under legal obligations."

Mr. Rigby: "I can voice the sentiments of the residents of Pawtucketville and all believe all of you are honest. We are ready to raise $500 to pay the fine."

Mayor: "If the Varnum lot is approved by the state board of health, and if severance can be put in at a reasonable cost, I am in favor of it. I am going to call a meeting of the board of health to view the site and I believe the members of the council will agree with me if the land is favorable."

Mr. Regan asked all who oppose the Pawtucketville site to rise, and every man and woman in the room stood to be counted.

The mayor then said if the Varnum site is selected an auto ambulance will be good and Mr. Rigby said it will be good thing. The mayor asked there were no more residents at the Varnum site in the hall and there was no reply.

CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

Site Suggested at Hearing

Dr. C. R. Simpson, representing the state health commission will approve the Thomas Varnum land in Varnum street and Old Meadow road for a contagious hospital site if the city council will extend the sewer and water supply. This statement was made, officially, by Dr. Simpson today after a visit to the Varnum land. Dr. Simpson went to Boston this morning, and it was learned later by telephone at city hall that State Health Commissioner Allan J. McLaughlin, M. D., had appointed Dr. Simpson to represent the state in the hospital matter and it looks now a foregone conclusion that the contagious hospital will be built on the Varnum land, a hospital site not yet of record, but one which has been suggested by Commissioner Rigby at Saturday's meeting of the municipal council.

Dr. Simpson arrived from Boston shortly before one o'clock and went to the city hall where he was met by the mayor and other members of the municipal council. The next thing in order was a visit to the Varnum land offered for a hospital site. The visitors or viewers included all five members of the municipal council. Dr. Simpson, Cemetery Commissioner Rigby, Agent Foye and newspapermen. Entrance to the land from Old Meadow road was made through a gate that led to land rich in clover, squash and corn, and a fine orchard on the side.

Mr. Varnum first called attention to a wonderful spring, and informed the visitors that the water for the first Moyle made in Lowell was taken from this spring. Everybody had a drink of the water and were unanimous in declaring it "the best ever." Mr. Varnum remarked that if he had started bottling the water years ago he would have made more money than I have made selling milk," he said, but his visitors didn't take him seriously. "I have lived here 70 years," said Mr. Varnum, "and I have never seen this spring go dry." He then took the visitors to a pool on another part of the lot and when first viewed it looked like a pool of surface water, but Mr. Varnum said that it was a "bubbling pool" and that its water was always fresh and cold.

It was generally conceded that the spring and pool were both very wonderful, and then the bunch got down to business. Mr. Varnum said it had been stated that he would sell any part of the 100 acres contained in the lot, but that the statement was entirely untrue. He said he would like to sell all of the 100 acres if possible. "I would like to sell it all," he said, "because it would be easier for the Varnums who come after me to handle the long green than to handle the land."

RIVALS CLASH AT SPALDING PARK — ZIESER YANKED IN FIRST INNING

Smarting under the double defeat of Saturday the Lawrence team came to Spalding park this afternoon confident of a win. On the very first inning it looked as though they would, for Matty Zieser who was on the mound for Lowell made a bad start, and after passing four men on the Lawrence team and being touched for two hits, netting three runs for Lawrence, he was taken out and Paddy Green substituted. Swaine played third base for Lowell today. Parker playing right field. Manager Keigher said, "he would have a new third baseman today, but he did not put in an appearance. Empire Aubrey officiated. Lawrence got a three-run lead in the first inning, owing to Zieser's wildness. Zieser passed four men, Luyster got a single, Warner got a two-bagger to right field and Ostergren got a sacrifice fly, all of which netted three runs for Lawrence. Then Green went on the mound for Lowell. In Lowell's half, Moulton got a single and went to second on a passed ball. Lowell then went out in order.

In the second inning Thompson opened up to the right of Green for a hit. Luyster bunted a fly between the plate and first base and Munn made a beautiful one-hand catch. O'Connell flied out to Parker. Thompson stole second and Ahearn made a bad throw, but Dee interfered with Thompson and the umpire allowed him to take third. Warner hit a home run and died at first. Lowell came across with two runs in the second. Dee opened up with a single. Munn popped a fly to Warner. Parker hit to Shears, forcing Dee at second base. Ahearn hit to right field for a single and Parker stopped on second although he might have made third on the hit. Paddy Green hit the second ball pitched for three bases, scoring Parker and Ahearn. Swaine struck out.

In the third Warner walked. Ostergren hit a fast bunt down to first base to Munn who threw to second getting Warner. Green caught Ostergren off first and he was run down the line and tagged out. Conley flied to Swaine.

Lowell's half was of short duration. Moulton hit a high fly to Mahoney. Stimpson hit to Warner and died at first. Barrows walked out to O'Connell. No runs.

Flaherty got hit by a pitched ball and got first. He went to second on a sacrifice by Shears. Thompson got a single to left field but Stimpson held Flaherty on third by a good throw back. would be about 50 yards. All of this land was given to Col. Ansart, many years ago, by the United States government. Col. Ansart came from France in Lafayette's time and he was given the land for showing the United States government how to mould and manufacture cement. Woodbury cemetery fronts the Varnum lot in Old Meadow road and this little graveyard contains the graves of many who were prominent in the early history of Dracut and Lowell.

The nearest sewer to the Varnum land is in Dunbar avenue, about 3000 feet away and Commissioner Morse allows it will be pretty hard digging. The water pipes extend to the cemetery so that the expense of extending the water to the hospital would not be very great. The land is higher than the land occupied by the Lowell hospital.

About 50 Acres Needed

After returning from the view, the municipal council had a conference with Dr. Simpson in the mayor's reception room and in reply to a question by the mayor as to how much land would be required, Dr. Simpson said: "I should say that with land of this type you would require about 50 acres." The mayor then summoned City Engineer Kearney and he was instructed to take a once over survey showing 50 acres and 25 acres. It was very evident from the way the council went ahead today that the members have decided to pass up the lot for which they voted and against which the people of Pawtucketville so strenuously objected, and buy the Varnum land. Dr. Simpson said he would approve the Varnum land for a hospital site if the city will supply proper water and sewerage facilities.

VILLA AND CARRANZA
GET COPIES OF APPEALVilla's Suggestion for Truce Favorably Received by Officers and Soldiers of Carranza Armies — Bishop of Vera Cruz Released From Prison—Fighting on Border

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Assurances that General Carranza will not obstruct delivery of the Pan-American appeal to Mexico, reached the state department today in a message from C. B. Parker of the American embassy staff in Mexico City saying Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, Carranza's commander there, had "promised safe conduct to the messengers who are to carry the appeal to Gen. Zapata and others."

Destitution Among Americans
Parker also reported destitution among Americans in the capital and said 120 who were being aided by American embassy attaches, had asked to be sent to the United States.

A message from Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz reported that the bishop of Vera Cruz, who had been imprisoned for Carranza's cause some time, had been released.

Advices from Monterey said Villa forces under Rialdo Hernandez and Raul Madero, had advanced within nine leagues of the city.

Consul Silliman has been stricken by the hot weather, but his illness is not serious.

Villa Garrison Revolted

A state department despatch from Torreon says that the Villa garrison at Durango has revolted and that the city has been taken by Carranza forces.

Many Agreeable to Truce

Word that both Generals Carranza and Villa have received copies of the Pan-American appeal reached the state department today. From several sources it has been learned that Gen. Villa's suggestion of a truce have been favorably received by some subordinate officers and soldiers of the Carranza armies. There has been practically no fighting in Mexico for several days.

No replies to the appeal had been received here today. State department officials are undecided whether to make them public after they are received before another conference with the Latin-American diplomats is held. Under the language of the appeal the Mexican leaders may invite some of the Latin-Americans to arrange the proposed peace conference and ignore the offer of the United States. Officials here say that only those invited will participate in the arrangements.

Gen. Carranza's agency here today made public telegrams from several generals pledging their support to Gen. Carranza. The agency announced that the telegrams were written at a time when the generals feared a "threat" of armed intervention by the United States in the internal affairs of Mexico and of participation in that movement by South and Central American countries.

The American consul at Chihuahua reported that all foreign shops seized by Gen. Villa have been returned to their owners. It is expected that Villa will do the same for the native shopkeepers. Villa took possession of the shops on the ground that the merchants were practicing extortion upon the famine ridden inhabitants. His latest action follows his conference with Maj. Gen. Scott.

DETACHMENT OF U. S. CAVALRY

ATTACKED BY MEXICANS
BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 16.—A detachment of United States cavalry patrol was fired on last night from the Mexican side of the Rio Grande near Mercedes about 30 miles up the Rio Grande from here. The firing occurred at Progresso. The cavalrymen returned the fire and the shooting from the Mexican side stopped. There were no casualties among the American troops.

200 MEXICAN TROOPS

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 16.—Two hundred Mexican troops, according to word received here today by the United States ship Colorado left Guaymas for Nogales where it is reported all Villa troops along the Mexican division of the Southern Pacific railroad are being sent.

MINISTERS AT NEW ORLEANS
NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 16.—The gunboat Sacramento, bringing Jose M.

Cardoso de Oliveira, Brazilian minister to Mexico and his family and Dr. Ortega, the Guatemalan minister expelled by General Carranza, was anchored in the Gulf five miles west of Southwest Pass today waiting for the storm to abate so that the Sacramento probably will not reach New Orleans before tonight. Mr. Cardoso will go on to Washington.

QUIET AT NOGALES AFTER
RIO SATURDAY NIGHT
NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 16.—Quiet prevailed on both the Mexican and American sides of the town after a riot Saturday night between American soldiers and Mexicans here. It is reported that several Americans were arrested on the Sonora side in retaliation for attack on Mexican soldiers by Americans, but no confirmation was received today of reports last night that an American had been killed. The disturbance here was started by a half-dozen Mexicans, armed with knives and guns, who announced their intention of "cleaning up" the "gringos."

After quiet had been restored, counsellors raided a gambling house, arresting several men and confiscating gambling paraphernalia.

GEN. SEGURA AGREES
TO PEACE CONFERENCE
EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 16.—The acceptance by Gen. Vicente Segura, Villa's military governor of the state of Hidalgo, of the Pan-American plan for the holding of a peace conference of Mexican leaders has been announced by Villa officials here. He is reported ready to send delegates to such a conference.

It was stated that he died as result of an accident on Saturday, but the nature of the accident was not mentioned. Deceased had been employed in a powder mill and Mrs. Proctor thinks that her husband may have sustained the injury of which he died in an explosion of some kind.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Ared flag, indicating that the soldiers are shooting at a target had made a clean miss, was the most conspicuous thing on the rifle range of the military instruction camp here today when the men attending the school were practicing shooting. But few of the citizen soldiers knew how to handle their rifles. Among those who made poor scores were Major Mitchell of New York, George Wharton Peck of New York, and Robert L. B.

TEUTONS CLOSING IN
ON RUSSIAN FORCESAdvance on Stronghold of Russian Line—Balkan Crisis Near Climax—Other War News

Advances recorded in the German official statement today represent a further closing in by Teutonic troops on the fortress of Brest-Litovsk, the stronghold of the new Russian line of defense.

Prince Leopold of Bavaria, who yesterday reported a defeat of the Russians near Losyee, 19 miles east of Siedlce, which the Germans took late last week, today occupied Losyee and Miedzyrzec, the latter place about 25 miles in a southwesterly direction from Siedlce. Afterward the Russians were beaten in a stand east of Losyee and were pursued, the Berlin statement says. These operations were within 50 miles of Brest-Litovsk.

Still closer to the fortresses are the armies of Field Marshal von Mackensen, which on Saturday were reported within 40 miles of the stronghold.

Since then they have advanced northward in pursuit of the Russians, marching toward Brest-Litovsk along both banks of the Bug.

7000 Russians Captured

Other successes are reported for the Germans between the Narow and the Bug, together with the capture of an advanced position at the fortress of Kovno and the taking in these sectors of nearly 7000 Russian prisoners.

Despite German successes, Petrograd military observers do not take a pessimistic view of the situation looking for a determined stand by the Russians as their new line is reached.

Operations on the western front were relatively unimportant. An engagement toward the southern end of the line near Ammerzwiler appears to have been fought.

EXPLOSION KILLS FIVE MORGAN AT HIS OFFICE

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—J. P. Morgan & Co. in Wall street today for the first time since he was shot at his summer home at Glen Cove, L. I., on July 3, by Ernest Muenster, alias Frank Holt.

Mr. Morgan was not accompanied by detectives or guards during his trip from Glen Cove today but a number of private detectives were still on duty when Mr. Morgan arrived.

OUR CONDUCTORS HONEST
Another local conductor has demonstrated his honesty, but the person who benefited by the conductor's integrity showed his gratitude by not even paying for the little "found ad" or advancing the customary "thank you."

The conductor, Dan O'Hara of Upper Gorman street picked up a pocketbook the other day containing a little over $7. He immediately came to The Sun office and inserted a "found ad" advising the owner of the purse to call at the Bay State Street railway office.

After one edition of the paper appeared a young man inquired at the office and he was informed that Mr. O'Hara had the pocketbook. He boarded Conductor O'Hara's car and asked if he had found a pocketbook. The latter replied in the affirmative and he learned that the pocketbook was the property of the young man's mother. The youth after identifying the purse took a seat in the car and rode a considerable distance. In conversation the finder said that the ad, he inserted was not paid for and that it was customary for the owner to settle. To this the young man made no reply, but when Mr. O'Hara was up near the front of the car, the young man hopped off. As a further demonstration of his honesty Mr. O'Hara came to the Sun office and paid for the little ad. He should have deducted the amount from the money found.

Rev. Dr. Bartlett Occupied Pulpit in the Kirk Street Church

Rev. William A. Bartlett, D. D., occupied the pulpit at the Kirk Street church Sunday morning. It was a union service of the Congregational churches and there was a large congregation present. Dr. Bartlett has come to this church for an August service since he was pastor of the church several years ago. His subject was, "The Word and the Deed."

"Every age is an age of great questions and tremendous crises and national and world issues. But when you come to trace down the history of vast things, you find the personal element. We cannot understand the revolution of a war or the beginning of this nation without knowing George Washington. We cannot understand the Civil war and its outcome without studying the character of Lincoln. You cannot estimate the condition of Europe without looking into the heart of the German Kaiser. So we trace to a person the vast movements of the peoples. You cannot know a church, till you discover the strongest personality. You will not understand the family until you are told of the individuals in it. The standing or falling of a city can be traced to one or two men, who have power to make good or to fail in their promises."

"The distance, grafting and selfish world is saying but not doing. And the strong, stable world is doing more than it promised, is making good. And therein it is like God. The entrance into blessedness is to be based on this. Then man with a buried talent goes into outer darkness, where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth. The one who has been true to his word shall bear Christ say, 'Well done, good and faithful servant. Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of the Lord. Yea, thou spakest with thy mouth and hast fulfilled it with thy hand, as it is this day.'"

Calvary Baptist Church

At the Calvary Baptist church Sunday morning, Rev. Samuel Russell preached morning and evening, his subject in the morning being, "The Union of Christ and the Believer," and in the evening, "The Deeper Well in the World." The evening sermon included lessons drawn from the account of Jesus meeting the women of Samaria at Jacob's well. When Christ asked the woman for a drink of water, if she had only known who asked she would have been more willing to give it to him. If the preacher said in standing in the way of so many today of accepting Christ, Christ raised the curiosity of the woman by telling of the well of living water that would keep her from ever thirsting. Christ saw a well deeper than Jacob's well; it was the woman's soul and before he could fill it with living water he began digging with the pick of truth by telling her all her past life and persuading her to accept the water of life.

AT SALISBURY BEACH

DAY OF EXCITING EVENTS—IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED—CONTENTION OVER LEASES

The beach hotels, after a period of very unfavorable weather, expect to reap their harvest during the remainder of the present month and the first week of September. The Lowell Colony at Hampton is larger than ever while a very considerable number of Lowell families are occupying cottages at Salisbury, the best beach for sea bathing in New England.

The chief events of interest last week were the fire at Salisbury. First came the fire, then the exhibition swim of ex-Alderman Daly from Black Rocks to Hampton, a distance of between five and six miles, and finally a splendid exhibition of fireworks in the evening. This attracted about 10,000 people and fully 500 automobiles were parked in the main square and the adjoining streets. The exhibition cost about $150 and was almost as good as that given on the South common. In this city in the Fourth of July celebration but the pieces were not quite so numerous.

Mr. Daly's Swim

Mr. Daly's swim attracted attention and caused excitement all along the beach. He had planned to enter the water at 10 o'clock as the tide at that hour was most favorable, but he was delayed till 11 by the fire, as his brother George and Charles Clark, who followed him in a boat, were in the water. The fire, however, could not be induced to leave until they were convinced that the rest of the beach was not doomed. As a result of the delay Mr. Daly had to swim against the receding tide in the last two miles of the course. The performance under the circumstances was equal so far as it went to that of some of the champion swimmers. Mr. Daly could have gone ten miles without exhaustion as he came out of the water fresh and vigorous. He hoped to row the boat back to the Centre or over half the course.

The fire
It is but natural that even a small fire should cause great alarm at Salisbury with the memory of two great fires that nearly swept the entire beach still fresh in the minds of the people.

Thursday morning about 8 o'clock, just as the beach was well decked with bathers, some in the water and others loitering in the sand, the sight of smoke and flames rising high in the air at Black Rocks spread general alarm. People from big cities accustomed to the dash of a fire department either in horse-drawn or motor vehicles, looked with much curiosity for the appearance of the fire-fighters at Salisbury. Sure enough, word of the fire was promptly sent by telephone to the police, to the life savers and to Chief Hunt of the fire department.

The entire apparatus of the fire department, a reel of hose mounted on a hand-cart, was loaded on a truck and sent along the boulevard towards the scene of the fire as far as the boulevard has been finished. But it was still half a mile to the fire and the path lay over loose sand. It would take the firemen from a half to three-quarters of an hour to lug the hose cart that distance over the sand.

Accordingly the volunteer firemen waited for the electric car which they expected along in from 15 to 20 minutes. The car arrived at the end of the time, the hose was loaded on and taken to within a hundred yards of the fire.

By this time the cottage was enveloped in flames so that if the Lowell fire department was there with half a dozen streams, they could not save the structure. A hydrant affording a good supply of water for a single hose was not far off. It furnished a pressure of 50 pounds and this the volunteer firemen said was the only thing that saved the whole line of cottages along the water front from destruction.

When the firemen got to work the cottage on fire was practically destroyed. It was known as the Harbor View Villa and had quite a history. It was once the old pavilion to which parties were run from Lowell and other places down the Merrimack to Black Rocks. The Ayer company, under the direction of Alfred E. Rose, conducted a picnic to Black Rocks about 15 or 16 years ago and had dinner served in this pavilion and subsequently when the tables were cleared, enjoyed dancing.

The building was damaged by fire some years ago and then remodeled into what is known as a double cottage and renamed. Each of the tenements was well furnished, and at the time of the fire, occupied, one by a man named Ricker and the other by a family named Gauthier. It was owned by Joseph Predette, of Haverhill, and was valued at $1500, although insured for a sum very much less. It was held under lease and although it has been observed that some cottages have taken fire about the time the lease expired, yet in this case the fire was purely accidental, as one of the occupants, Mr. Ricker, lost a roll of bills amounting to $127.

All that remained of the cottages after the fire was a few burned boards of the first floor and the posts of the cellar. Even the furniture, with the exception of a few chairs, was all burned. Other articles of furniture thrown out on the sand caught fire later and were destroyed, as the fire was so fiercely hot that nobody dared venture close enough to save them.

There were about 25 volunteer firemen on callmen who are paid only for the fires to which they respond. There were also volunteer life savers, U. S. coast guards from Plum Island, and the Salisbury police department under Chief Bachmann, who arrived in time to see the last stages of the fire and to give some directions as to the disposal of the ruins. The chief efforts of the firemen were directed to saving "The Mistletoe," a cottage only a few yards from the one that was destroyed. It is owned by George Taylor of Haverhill. It would certainly have been burned down but for the already stream poured upon it by the firemen. One side of it was so badly damaged that it will have to be removed.

The furniture of this cottage was removed and much of it was burned on the sand by the brands from the fire.

The Aftermath

After the fire the cottage owners began to inquire why the boulevard wasn't finished up to the edge of the Merrimack. The sum of $20,000 was appropriated by the town of Salisbury for the purpose and half a mile of the road remains to be constructed. The mode of building a boulevard over the loose sand is different from Commissioner Morse's method of road building. A lot of railroad sleepers are laid down to form the road bed. Over this is spread a layer of gravel. This is rolled and oiled so as to form an adhesive surface and under the traffic of autos and motor trucks becomes a fairly good road.

The demand is put up to the town to finish this "boulevard" from the Centre through the South End to Black Rocks and in all probability the present season will see it completed.

It will be a great convenience to parties going down the river by steamer from Haverhill.

Another demand is also made and is a very sensible one. It is that attention be established at intervals of from a half to a quarter of a mile apart at which a reel of fire hose will be kept for emergencies. It would have to be near a hydrant and to be fitted with the necessary couplings. It is not certain that the town will go to this expense to improve the fire protection, although the improvement will come in time. The cottagers at present have to pay such high insurance rates, $30 per $1000, that many of them are uninsured, preferring to take the chance of losing all in a night or perhaps in broad daylight as was the case with the Harbor View Villa and another cottage in the vicinity burned two months ago.

Lights Needed

Another improvement greatly needed is the lighting of the new cement walk. At present in a distance of about four miles there is but one light and the light on the front of Coulson's cottage, together with the illumination of the roller coaster, the revolving swings and the hotel signs at the Centre.

Contention Over Leases

At present it appears that the Salisbury Beach Associates have things much their own way in regard to the ownership of the beach lots.

There is one great source of contention in which the Associates claim to have the best of the cottagers. It arises from the construction put upon the so-called second leases.

When any lot was leased a second time, the Associates provided that the lessee would leave the lot or the property just as it was at the time the lease was executed. Under that clause, it is alleged that no lessee can remove the building from any lot and that unless the lessee is willing to buy the lot at the price fixed by the syndicate, he loses his building. Several buildings have already been forfeited in this manner, but the validity of the article has not yet been tested in court. In some cases parties whose leases had expired moved away the buildings without permits and others, it is alleged, burned the buildings rather than allow the syndicate to get them for nothing. As many leases are soon to expire, it is expected that there will be still further litigation between cottage owners and the beach associates.

Sergeant Ryan's Joke

Soon after Sergt. Ryan reached the beach he "got on" to the "imposing" police force and its methods. The officers from Chief Bachmann to "Sleazy Steve" and the patrolmen, of whom there are several, go about the streets and walks wearing slouch hats and smoking delicious cigars. Of course it is nobody's business where the cigars come from, but it is a rare sight to see an officer on the street minus the cigar, which with the slouch hat seems to be part of the insignia of his office. The beach "cops" were conducting a special crusade against drunks and fast auto driving. Sergt. Ryan reached the beach in an auto, not the one driven by Chief Welch, but another just as fast. It was eyed with suspicion by one of the beach sleuths, but as it slowed up on reaching the square there was no remonstrance. The sergeant got the tip, however, that he was a marked man and that if he ventured to do any more speeding along the boulevard, he would be pinched. One of the "cops" off duty was pointed out to him and he immediately accosted him with: "Say, Mister, can you tell me where there is an express office in this locality? I came here yesterday and I am already disgusted with the place. A man can scarcely cross the square with his family without being in danger of being run over. Yesterday a friend of mine was knocked down by an auto over there at the dance hall. Today while coming down the walk from the North End I had to step over a man lying drunk and apparently dead to the world. There is no police protection in this place. I want to go to Hampton. Where's the express office?"

"I will see Mr. Coulson about conditions on this beach," continued the sergeant as he turned to go.

The Salisbury cop eyed him with a wild stare and in a tone of appeal said: "Oh, no, don't go to Coulson, see Chief Bachmann."

"I guess not," said Bart. "I attempted to complain to one of the officers yesterday, but when I went to speak to him I found him asking a man for a chew of tobacco. That settled my opinion of the cops on this beach."

"I will see Coulson or the selectmen before I go to Hampton."

The astonished beach cop cut for headquarters to have a conference with his chief. A search was made for the drunken man and there was greater vigilance against auto speeding.

Charles Clark of the local telephone office spent the last two weeks at the beach with the Miskella family with whom he returned Saturday. Mr. Clark, who is a skilled amateur photographer, had his camera with him and secured a fine selection of views, one of the best being that of the high waves during the big storm of Aug. 11.

Rev. F. Dacey, U. S. L. with his mother, is still at at Ivaloo. Mr. Dacey has taken some delightful auto trips along the beaches north and south of Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. William Burrows of the Sacred Heart parish are at the Thistle cottage for two weeks. With them is their daughter, Miss Gertrude, of the Sun office. Miss Kate Dolan of Chambers street is also at the Thistle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Daly were among the families who returned from Salisbury Saturday.

Mr. James McMenamin of Concord street has gone to Salisbury for a week.

$200,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE IN UPPER ROCHESTER, 200 MILES FROM RENO

RENO, Nev., Aug. 15.—Twelve buildings constituting about half of the business section of Upper Rochester are in ruins today as the result of a fire which burned for several hours yesterday. The loss is estimated at $200,000. Upper Rochester is a gold and silver camp in Humboldt county about 200 miles east of here.

LADY LOOKABOUT

The indignant protests which proceeded not long since from pulpit, press, and public alike, against the so-called animal dances, seem to have died a natural death, not because the dances have come to be tolerated, but because much that was objectionable in them has been eliminated. This elimination has not been wholly in response to the long and loud protests, but because the average person can be safely relied upon to keep the pendulum close to the middle of its swing. Extremists, we always will have among us, and although they sometimes appear to be in the majority, they really are very much in the minority, and even though they occasionally have their day, it is a short one. Invariably they are compelled to give way to the great class of sober thinkers who without effort of any kind, keep the balance of things pretty near right. It is to this element we look in times of stress, to save us from the erratic few. Generally speaking, it is a safe course to let extremists go their limit; to let their fads, by their very exaggerations exhaust themselves, than to give tenacity to their uncertain grip by uttering loud protests against them.

Anti-Fly Crusade

Within a short time a number of prosecutions have been made in the police court of Boston against the owners or lessees of property who do not keep their premises in a sanitary condition. These prosecutions have been made in the interest of the anti-fly crusade and are to be highly commended as an effort to diminish the number of breeding places of that conveyor of disease, the common house-fly. These prosecutions should serve as a warning to parties here in our own city who are extremely negligent as to the disposal of garbage. The city does its part in furnishing men and wagons for its removal, but when it is contained in open receptacles, often brimming full, it is difficult to maintain sanitary conditions. Some very respectable looking front yards do not suggest the uncleaned for back

SULLIVAN'S BIG SWIM

THE MOST IMPORTANT SWIMMING EVENT IN YEARS COMES OFF NEXT SATURDAY

All followers of aquatics are looking forward eagerly to Aug. 21, when the great match swim between Sam Richards, South Boston's wonderful endurance swimmer, and Henry F. Sullivan of English Channel fame will be staged. Sullivan is a Lowell boy and the son of Thomas B. Sullivan, the well known Centralville shoe dealer.

The feat which the two noted men will attempt to accomplish will be without a doubt one of the most formidable nautical performances seen in a long time, and the winner will be entitled to the championship long distance swimming laurels.

Starting from Nantasket beach, the swimmers will attempt to plough their way through Massachusetts and Cape Cod bays to Race Point, Provincetown, a distance said to be between 40 and 50 miles in a straight line.

Rugged Performers

On the basis of past accomplishments, no two swimmers probably are better qualified for such an undertaking as Richards and Sullivan. Richards is a former champion of the world, and Sullivan is a former champion of the world. Both possess the two prime essentials of championship long distance swimmers—speed and stamina. Sullivan is recognized to be the fastest swimmer in the world employing the breast stroke.

Richards has four times succeeded in swimming from Charlestown bridge to Boston light, and he holds a record for the course that has never been equaled.

In August, 1913, he performed the unprecedented feat of swimming to the light and back. On this occasion he was in the water 12 hours and 9 minutes. In New York waters Richards has successfully ploughed the distance from the Battery to Sandy Hook, and he defeated Charles M. Durborrow, the wealthy Philadelphia webfoot, in a special match race on the Delaware river.

English Channel Swims

The deeds of the Lowell natator are also way out of the ordinary, he having covered the Boston light course in 8 hours and 21 minutes on his first attempt. This was in 1912, while the following summer he went abroad and made a grand attempt to swim the English Channel.

He was forced to give up the attempt when a heavy storm came up after he was in the water over 10 hours. He was then only 5 miles from the French coast and would have continued only for being followed and pulled into a small boat and brought back to the launch which followed him. The pilot of the boat said the Lowell boy put up the most wonderful exhibition of endurance he ever witnessed, but this statement was of little comfort to Sullivan who had trained months for the swim.

The pilot of the boat would not proceed any farther than the distance covered as he said it would mean sure death to the members of the party on account of the dangerous reefs on the French coast and the storm which had just arisen.

Sullivan went abroad again last summer with the avowed intention of accomplishing the great task, but he was prevented from so doing by the war.

C. Y. M. I. Colors

Both Sullivan and Richards are members of the C. Y. M. I. street swimming club, but Richards will swim independently on August 21. Sullivan will swim under the colors of the C. Y. M. I., and a number of the members of the Suffolk street institution will accompany him in a boat.

The distance is between 40 and 50 miles without taking into consideration the drift of the tide. The swimmers expect to be in the water 24 hours or more and count on reaching their destination in 24 hours. In case neither swimmer reaches the goal, buoys will be dropped down and the man who is nearer the finish will be declared the winner.

Sullivan has unlimited confidence that he is unbeatable in long distance swimming and that he can fight the water just as strong as any swimmer in the game today. He paid a visit to his father and John Conlan, his trainer, Wednesday afternoon but did not stay long and journeyed back to Whitcomb to continue his training which consist of 7 hours in the water daily.

MISS KERSHAW WINNER

REVERE GIRL SWIMS FROM BATHHOUSE TO NAHANT IN TWO HOURS, 41 MINUTES

REVERE, Aug. 15.—Ethel Kershaw, 15 years old, entered the list of famous swimmers yesterday afternoon when she swam from the state bathhouse to Nahant in 2h 41m. It was Miss Kershaw's first long-distance swim, but accompanied by Frank Murphy of Lowell, she successfully completed the task and currents, withstood two attacks of cramps and through a wonderful exhibition of gameness completed the task.

Miss Kershaw's father is a life guard at the beach, and she is cheered by a large crowd when she entered the water. The greeting, however, upon her return to Revere was tremendous.

Murphy, who was coach and pilot, shaped a diagonal course toward the Graves Light and depended upon the wind to carry his charge back to Nahant.

She was stricken with cramps while in the Lynn channel, but she worked them off, and again when within 200 yards of her goal she was attacked, but again managed to rid herself of the cramps and finished fairly strong.

GREAT BALL PLAYING

LOWELL TOOK DOUBLE HEADER FROM LAWRENCE BY CLASSY WORK

Over 1000 Lowell people trolleyed and thronged to Lawrence for Pennant day Saturday and were amply rewarded for going down as Lowell won a double-header from the pennant-contender and put up a game that was worth going miles to see.

The pennant-raising ceremonies were of the usual nature, a concert by the Lawrence Brass band, which kept the crowd tuned up with all popular selections. Then a procession to the flagpole of both teams and the lifting to the top of the pole of the league pennant, gracefully conveyed aloft by Old Glory to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner, while the immense audience stood uncovered. President Tim Murnane of the New England league was selected to lift the flag, but he was unavoidably detained at Fenway park and hence another good, strong man was found who did the job. The two games were better than those described. Both teams went out to win and went along with absolute fairness and not a murmur of protest or a word that would offend the most sensitive of the spectators, of whom 4552 paid to get in and there were additional guests to send the total attendance over the 5000 mark.

Old Zeke Lohman opened in the first game and those who thought that Zeke wasn't there were loudly shouting his praises after the game. He had fine control and allowed but two hits in the entire game. Zeke also contributed two hits in that game and was right there in every respect. In the second game Paddy Green was the mound artist and perhaps Paddy didn't shine. For five innings Lawrence didn't get a look-in, Paddy mowing them down two an inning or thereabouts. In the sixth Flaherty hit by second base for a single and the crowd took courage. Harris was put in as a pinch-hitter and Paddy fanned him. Then came the all-conquering Harry Thompson and Paddy laid him low. Along comes Bill Luyster, the mighty stickler and Bill popped a little fly.

Everybody sat up and took notice at the way third base was covered for Lowell Manager Kelchner put in a colt named Eddie Dwyer from Belmont, Pa., in the Corn League. Dwyer covered great ground and made a one-handed stop on third base and a successful throw to first base such as Boston used to give Jimmie Collins autos and brick blocks for making. The entire team played with much glimmer and Cuke Barrows having in mind the fact that he has only three weeks to go to keep at the top of the league batters made two hits with four times up that helped materially.

Harry Thompson was on the mound for Lawrence, his record up to that time being 15 won and 4 lost and the last nine straight wins. Great things were expected of him, but the Red Sox couldn't have defeated Lowell Saturday.

Two errors contributed largely to Lawrence's only run in the first game, but they were subsequently excused. Ostergren hit to Moulton who, after getting in front of the ball, gave it a boot. Lohman threw to first to catch Ostle napping, but Munn dropped the ball and Ostle took second and scored on O'Connell's double.

Lowell opened up in the fourth, tying the score. Swayne got a single and went to second on Moulton's sacrifice. Stimpson hit a hot one over Conley's head for a single, but Bobber knocked it down so that Swayne was held on first. Barrows hit a fly to deep left centre and O'Connell made a beautiful catch, but Swayne scored.

In the sixth Lohman copied a run. He made an infield hit to Warner and took second on Inke's bat throw to first. Swayne's single sent him to third and he came home on Moulton's long fly.

Lowell put the game on ice in the eighth with three big runs. Ahearn and Lohman made singles. Walter Warner hit out on Swayne's unsuccessful attempt to sacrifice. Zeke scored on Stimpson's hit to deep right field. Barrows scored Moulton on a long sacrifice fly.

Lowell's two runs in the second game were made in the sixth inning. Swayne made the first run on a two-bagger to right field, but all he had to do was to touch all the bases as he went around for he never stopped as Luyster's bat throw went through Warner and sailed down to the right foul field, while Harry merrily rolled along home. Moulton singled and took second on Stimpson's sacrifice. Barrows hit through Warner and Moulton scored the second run.

WRENN WON SWIM

By successfully covering the eight-mile stretch of water between the Tyngsboro bridge and the Vesper boat-house Saturday afternoon in remarkable time, Michael Wrenn, the well known all round athlete won the championship long distance swimming laurels of Lowell and vicinity. Wrenn finished 300 yards ahead of Maloney, and about 700 yards ahead of Eddie McCormack. John Moriarty finished in fourth position and Louis Bellerose, an 18-year-old youngster from Perkins street was fifth. The other two entrants, Curry and Boyle dropped out of the race before North Chelmsford. Wrenn's time, as given out by the officials of the race, was, two hours, 29 minutes and 30 seconds.

A crowd of 300 or more people lined the banks of the Merrimack river in Tyngsboro before the start of the race, while motorboats and canoes lay idly waiting near the river banks for the pistol shot which would start the men over the long course. Out of 10 entries, only seven contestants started.

A few minutes after 1:30 o'clock, the swimmers were called to the starting point and after receiving final instructions from the judges they were sent on their way by a shot from Jackson Palmer's gun.

Commodore "Jim" Walker was in charge of the official boat which followed the swimmers over the course. Seated in the official boat were: Starter Jackson Palmer; Judges, Edward Winans, New England representative of the Amateur Athletic Union, and P. J. McKee, representative for the Klaxon service; Samuel Scott, Gerald F. Beano of the Sun and Miss Jeanette Greenwood of Sydney, Australia, who was a guest of Mr. Winans.

Wrenn immediately went into the lead at the start of the race but Maloney soon caught up to him and the two swam together until the last quarter mile. The other contestants were bunched behind a distance of 50 yards or more.

Wrenn and Maloney made a decided mistake in not taking the right hand side of the river where the stream was a strong and chose the North Chelmsford side which was shady.

For the first fifteen minutes, Wrenn and Maloney swam neck and neck, while about 25 yards in the rear, McKee and Curry were battling for third position. Moriarty and Bellerose were swimming together about 40 yards from the leaders while Boyle was even at this early period, hopelessly distanced. Wrenn was using a breast stroke, and Maloney alternated with a trudgeon and crawl stroke.

After passing the Country club, Wrenn and Maloney had several exciting springs. Maloney evidently was tiring by this means. But it didn't tire Mike, and after catching Maloney he would settle down to a steady breast stroke.

At the bridge spanning the river near the Country club Maloney was in the lead by three feet, with Wrenn second, and McCormack and Curry in third and fourth positions respectively. During the next five minutes Curry pulled down a 35 yard lead on McCormack, and the two swam side by side for the next quarter mile.

About a half mile below North Chelmsford, Wrenn and Maloney gave a wonderful exhibition of speed, Wrenn going into the lead. McCormack was in third position, with a 100 yard lead on Curry, and Moriarty and Bellerose were over a half mile in the rear. Boyle still stayed in the water, and gave a wonderful exhibition of gluck for he was in no condition for the long grind, and his strokes lacked power to carry him along.

Wrenn and Maloney stayed together up until the last quarter mile, when Maloney swam to the channel side of the river. Wrenn at this time started to use the crawl and trudgeon strokes and during the next five minutes he established a 50 yard lead on Maloney. Maloney tried to follow him in the sprint but he exhausted himself in so doing, and he was barely able to get to the water. Moriarty finished out of the boat house before the eyes of several hundred spectators. He was in excellent shape and got out of the water without assistance. He was given a great hand by the crowd as were the other contestants when they were in sight. Curry and Boyle were taken to the landing in canoes. Maloney finished a few minutes after Wrenn, and he was helped out of the water. Moriarty finished out of the water, and he was helped to the dressing room provided for the swimmers.

After the swimmers had been limbered out by their attendants, Wrenn was called to the landing and presented first prize, a huge silver cup, by Harry Pitts, the promoter of the race, who also took occasion to congratulate him on his fine showing. Pitts also presented Maloney with a silver cup as second prize.

JOE ROUSER BEATEN BY WESTFORD AFTER PITCHING A GREAT GAME—OTHER GAMES

Talk about hard luck, Joe Rouser, Lowell's crack pitcher, having a day off Saturday and desirous of keeping in practice, went out to Graniteville and pitched against Westford. He showed his stuff, pitched in the entire game and struck out 11, but alas, Powers who got one of the Texas leaguers, went to third on two passed balls by the catcher and scored on a squeeze play. Spinner, the Graniteville catcher, had considerable difficulty holding Joe's deceivers. Rouser got one of Graniteville's five hits. The score was 1 to 0. Knight pitched for Westford.

The South Ends and the Diamond Springs had another close game Saturday, the local boys coming out on top this time by a score of 4 to 3. A big crowd was in attendance and they saw a fine game. The South Ends got only four hits, while the visitors got eight off Devin. There's a rubber game coming, probably at Spalding park.

The Princeton defeated the Tewksbury town team 4 to 5 Saturday. Briggs who pitched for Tewksbury allowed only three hits.

Lowell at Lawrence tomorrow:
Dwyer played a fine game at third.
Both Lohman and Green performed like a couple of big leaguers.

Walter Ahearn caught the two games under the worst kind of difficulties. He had a bad leg and a bad finger on the bare hand.
It looks as if no one will head Barrows, as the league's leading batter this season.

Tim Murnane didn't go to Lawrence Saturday as per schedule—but then, neither did Pennington.
Josee Burkett has finally put himself in bad all around on account of his conduct on the diamond in visiting cities.

There's considerable internal dissension in the Worcester team, which would indicate that the city needs a new deal relative to its baseball team.
It looks from all appearances, as if Lowell would make a fine finish and give the fans at baseball for the remaining three weeks.

Arthur Irwin it is said, has recently given evidence to the effect that the gold brick game can be worked successfully in baseball as well as on the festive agriculturalist.

When the result of the first Lewiston-Portland game, 5 to 4, Portland, was announced at Lawrence Saturday, there was an eloquent silence for the announcement together with the fact that Lawrence was being beaten a double-header convinced the fans, that Lawrence no longer had hope of the pennant this year.

The Oxford Club borrowed the Lawrence Mfg. Co.'s battery to use against the Kimball System team in their game Saturday, but all batteries look alike to the sign painters and they scored another victory on the combination 8 to 2 in a two played game. The Kings announce that they will play any team in Lowell for fun, money or marbles.

"A Rubber Chain Tread built on a Powerful Modern Tire"

These Manufacturers Know

Wise automobile manufacturers have to know good tires—it is their business to

Next to the motor, the tires on a car are the most vital part of the car.

Next to the quality of the tires, the company behind the tires—the number of tire service stations throughout the country, and tire service given—is the most vital part of the tire subject.

Among the many leading automobile manufacturers of the world who have already adopted "Chain Treads" as a part of their standard equipment, are the following:

Buick
Dodge Brothers
Grant

Haynes
King
Maxwell
Mitchell
Reo

Wise manufacturers know that it pays them to have their cars reach the buyers equipped with the best of tires, just as it pays them to use the best steel in their chassis, and the best motors that can be produced, etc.—that is why they are giving their customers

GERMANY SAID TO BE BACK OF
PROPAGANDA TO INFLUENCE
OPINION AGAINST ALLIES

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A sensational expose of the alleged existence of a widespread official German propaganda in the United States to influence American public opinion against the allies, to secure the exportation of American-made ammunition to Germany, was published by the New York World, which, in its issue yesterday, presented letters and other proofs showing evidence of a widespread plot. The facts set forth are based upon correspondence exchanged by representatives of the German government, its agents and sympathetic allies in this country, which has come into possession of the World.

This correspondence reveals that the leading officials of the German government have had a hand in the promotion of ventures directed not alone at its belated enemies with whom it is at war, but in some instances, at the laws of the United States as well.

ROWDY ROOTING AT BALL GAMES

It is an old and popular practice of the fans at an inter-city baseball game to cheer the home team to victory. It is looked for as a matter of course by the crowds which attend and it gives added zest to the game. Even an occasional sally of wit or a little clean sarcasm is acceptable to the audience. When, however, the practice descends to vulgarity or degenerates into deliberate and studied abuse amounting almost to assault on the visiting manager and his players, it becomes an outrage that cannot be tolerated.

It is a regrettable fact that this variety of rowdiness is growing in Lowell; the game last Friday was a typical instance. License reached its culmination in a display of billingsgate, vulgar abuse, insulting epithets and an exchange of vocal assaults that reached the verge of obscenity. This was all the more to be regretted as Friday was ladies' day at the ball grounds, and the disgraceful exhibition of unsportsmanlike conduct was given before many gentlemen with their ladies, family groups and clergymen.

Rowdy rooting at the ball games must be stopped or it will destroy the game. Baseball in itself is clean, manly sport but if decent people cannot attend a game without being treated to a deluge of filthy vulgarity, they will stay at home. The problem is squarely up to the management, and if the management cannot provide amusement without this disgusting spectacle, the Sun cannot consistently advise the people of Lowell to attend the games.

Those responsible for the undesirable actions may be very few, and it seems too bad that they could not be silenced by effective action at the time of the offence. The visiting manager at Friday's game would have been justified in going into the grand stand and giving a sound thrashing to at least one individual. Billingsgate, vulgarity and loose badinage is not sport, and if it cannot be stopped by the management, it must be stopped by an officer of the law. Those in charge had better decide to tolerate it no longer, and objectionable rowdies must be ejected from the grounds if the patronage of decent people is desired.

Many patrons of the game have already complained to The Sun against such forms of sickening interference with sport and they justly protest against language that would be out of place in the lowest dive in the city. Everybody likes a clean, lively game; everybody likes to see a game cheered in the old legitimate way and nobody objects to a little fair bandying to and fro, but all decent people dislike seeing clean sport spoiled by noisy buns and hoodlums. It is not manly and it is not a good policy from a practical point of view.

Throughout the New England circuit Lowell is becoming noted as the home of abuse that reaches the limit, and goes a little beyond. This is not good for the game, it is not good for the management, and it certainly is not good for Lowell. Such a reputation breeds animosity and gives the city some shameful advertising. It is time that something were done to save Lowell from a notorious and offensive reputation in sporting circles and to conduct the sport so that decent people and their families may go to a game without being subjected to cheap, nauseating and undesirable vulgarity. Let us have no more of it!

ENGLAND AND COTTON.

An interview given to the press by Lord Robert Cecil, parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs, a few days ago, clearly outlines the policy of the British government in the cotton controversy with this country and removes the chance of any misunderstanding owing to a misconception of the American point of view. England clearly understands the basis of the American protest, but feels obliged to oppose it from a sense of national preservation. In this interview there is no attempt at deception, and the English position is explained plainly and pointedly.

It would look at the outset as though there is good ground to hope for a favorable settlement. Lord Robert says: "The allies must by all lawful means prevent cotton reaching their enemies; it may be considered necessary to make cotton contraband." At first sight the term "lawful means" looks hopeful, but it may be that what England considers lawful may be considered very unlawful by this country. All of the belligerents have had a way of interpreting the law as necessity advised, and many times they interpreted it so as to arouse the ire of neutrals.

Further on, the statement does indeed give room for hope, indicating as it does that the American grievance is not considered wholly unreasonable in England. The following is more liberal than one might be led to expect by the previous British stand, or by the notes which the English government has sent from time to time in answer to American protests. Possibly England is coming to see the matter in a different light:

"In any case, whether cotton is contraband or not, the allies must permit neutral trading in this product. American growers must be given their market in neutral countries, even if they are adjacent to Germany, and the industries of those countries must have the cotton required for their own needs."

"We fully realize that if there is no German and Austrian outlet prices may go down and that Americans will suffer unless some means are devised for compensation. Proposals in that direction have been made and are receiving careful consideration. What will come of them I cannot say at this time."

In conclusion, America is asked to be patient and the assurance is given that every consideration will be given "to the legitimate interests of all neutrals." If England and America could agree as to what is "legitimate" and "lawful" there would be smooth sailing in the future—provided Sir Robert voices the views of his government.

COMPETITION TO COME.

Most of the predictions concerning our trade future are optimistic, but one hears an occasional note of warning. Such is the prediction of Mr. Robert Grimshaw, consulting engineer and lecturer of New York university who says that though the future of the American manufacturer is bright, he must be prepared to meet new and unforeseen competition when the war is over. Mr. Grimshaw speaks from personal observation in some of the belligerent countries, and his arguments are based on the trade outlook in all of the leading nations.

It is the contention of this author that when the war is over there will be millions of men out of work in the belligerent nations. Many millions of soldiers who are now fighting will return to industrial pursuits, but in the respective organizations and recuperation of the nations, thousands of mills and factories will be closed. Women and children will be employed more extensively than formerly, and men will be obliged to seek other employment at very low wages. The American manufacturer will have to compete with this cheap labor to some extent.

Again, in Germany and Austria many factories are turning out goods for which there is no immediate market. These commodities are being stored, and the markets of the world will be flooded with them when transportation is again provided. It is our hope to secure a permanent footing in foreign markets hitherto supplied by other powers, but we cannot disguise the fact that we must prepare for keen competition.

It is the opinion of this student of affairs that the American manufacturer can overcome all obstacles, provided he sees the true situation and prepares for it. From the government to the private manufacturer, all agencies in this country are working for an immense increase in foreign commerce following the war, and it will not do for any hope to fall through a false sense of security.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

The New York Sun recently conducted an investigation into the high cost of vegetables to consumers with an eye to a suggestion of plans for a reduction, but though some interesting facts were uncovered, no practical plan of relief was formulated. This investigation is only one of many but though all seem to infer that something should be done, nobody seems to know what course ought to be pursued to reduce the high cost of living, in this important particular.

The New York investigation showed that vegetables are more abundant than they have been for years and that the prices at wholesale are relatively low, but that the price to consumers is excessively high. To quote: "It was found that potatoes sell at $1 a barrel, at wholesale, as compared with $1.25 a year ago, while at retail they bring from 10 to 12 1/2 cents a quart, or at the rate of $2.25 or $4 a bushel and $8 and $10 a barrel. Tomatoes sell at wholesale at from 25 to 75 cents a crate, and to the housewife at the rate of four for 10 cents. Onions have been bringing 25 cents a bushel at wholesale as compared with $2 last year, while the price to consumers is as high as it was then."

These figures show that the profit, or the major part of it, does not go to either the producer or the consumer. The producer is not paid enough in proportion, and the consumer pays too much. Relief will come only when the producer and the consumer are brought closer together, but the problem is to bring relief without doing an injury to any branch of business and yet to make the scheme so practical and attractive that the consumer will take advantage of it.

ZEPPELIN RAIDS.

Reading the account of Zeppelin raids as given out in England and Germany, one wonders if they are taking the part for which they were intended. If so, either the damage wrought is minimized in reporting or they have proved a sorry failure. It may be that their effect was intended to be moral, on the assumption that they would intimidate the English people into suing for peace, but they appear to have had a contrary effect, for after each Zeppelin raid, England seems more determined than ever to fight on until her foe is crushed. It is to be presumed that the latest Zeppelin raids represent their most successful efforts, but the results were slight as judged by the announcements from Germany many months ago. Then, one read a great deal about a coming mighty attack that would destroy London, but to date the Zeppelin attacks have been few and unimportant in a military sense. The raids have now lost their novelty and there is nothing very inspiring in the accounts of the few non-combatants killed and injured in the papers of the morning after.

LIKE OLD TIMES

The political situation looks as though we may have some pretty close and warm contests in this city in a little while as there are a great many energetic rivals for some of the political positions. Even thus early in the game many of the candidates for office are getting in some effective campaign work, and it is apparent that success will be only for the man who works hard and untiringly. While a keen contest is not undesirable in itself, there is always danger that it will degenerate into street corner abuse and an exchange of sorry personalities. Some campaigns of happy memory show all our political candidates what not to do if they would succeed or lose so as to still merit the respect and confidence of decent citizens. No temporary success should cause a man to throw away his reputation for truth and sincerity.

SEEN AND HEARD

Most motorists believe that in rounding a corner at least one wheel should remain on the ground.

Payment of Taxes

Poll taxpayers who may be laboring under a misapprehension of the law in regard to the payment of taxes and think that they have until Nov. 1 to pay poll taxes have got another think, according to one who thinks he knows. The law allowing taxpayers until November 1 in which to pay taxes applies only to taxes on real estate and personal property and does not affect the payment of poll taxes.

Will See Submarines

Those of the members of the G. A. R., who attend the forthcoming annual convention of the Grand Army here to the town of Lowell, will have an opportunity to see some of the modern fighting equipment, if plans are carried out. Submarines and swift running torpedo boat destroyers will be brought to Washington by the navy department to add a special feature to the series of events which are to take place at the national capital.

HOW WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—"My left side pained me so for several years I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."

—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound."

—Mrs. ADA WURT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.

For over thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female troubles, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

at that time. Secretary Daniels is desirous that the old veterans shall be afforded an opportunity to see some of the implements of modern warfare in order to show by contrast with those which were in use a half century ago the progress which has been made since the days when the Grand Army men and their brothers in the navy bore arms. The navy department is planning to have an interesting and impressive naval spectacle which shall include such vessels as may be brought to Washington to represent advances made in the mechanism of naval warfare, and such ships as the Hartford that may have an historical significance and, as well, a contribution of naval personnel to the parade which is bound to arouse enthusiasm.

Real English the Thing Now

"Sit me a brace of chickens!" ordered the chesty-looking young man with a bored air, as he peered on the first stool in the lunch room, says the Kansas City Journal.

"A what?" asked the waitress, as she placed a glass of water before him.

"Adam and Eve sat on their backs! A pair of sunbathers!" said the young man in exasperated tone.

"You get me, kid," returned the waitress. "Watcha want?"

"B-r-r-r-s," said the young man. "B-r-r-r-s," the kind that come before the rain or after, I never knew which."

"Why about you say so in the first place?" asked the waitress. "You'd had 'em by this time."

"Well, of all things!" said the young man.

"I knew what he was driving at all the time," began the waitress, as the young man departed. "But he's one of them fellows that thinks they can get by with anything. He don't know that they're using plain English now in restaurants."

Sympathy

He never shed a single tear
Nor heaved a tender sigh;
Cold calculating, sharp and clear
Was every day his eye.
Always his judgment ruled his deeds,
And reason marked each plan;
But what this old world really needs
Is sympathy from man.

It needs the eyes that all with tears,
The throats that know the rise
Of choking lumps, the heart that aches,
Far more than judgment wise.
It needs the hasty hands that do
The gentle things and kind
That beating hearts impel them to,
Far more than pulse of mind.

He felt no touch of other's pain,
Nor knew another's woe;
He looked on sentiment as vain,
His heart was cold as snow.
Brain was the god he calmly served,
At every time or place
He thought it shame to be unnerved,
Tears were to him disgrace.

And yet before all reason calm,
The weeping eyes should be;
The world must have the soothing balm
Of tender sympathy.
I sing the hot, impulsive deeds
That kindly people do,
For these are what the old world
Needs.

Far more than judgment true.

Dimming Auto Lights

It is noticeable that the practice of dimming automobile headlights when approaching another auto, team or bicyclist is more and more common, and ought to be appreciated by those who are approaching the car, for some of the bright lights on the automobiles are as blinding as are the searchlights on the electric cars, which are now customarily shut off on the approach of a machine. Incidentally, I notice that the Massachusetts highway commission has a special committee are conducting an investigation into the best lights for autos to use. The other day at a demonstration in Brookline, more than a score of different devices were offered. The devices were roughly of three different kinds, though they varied widely in the application of methods. There were in the first class lights with either frosted bulbs or partially frosted lenses, or with the partially colored lenses; in the second division lights with corrugated lenses, and in the third lamps designed to be deflected or turned mechanically. Promoters of the various devices came from Chicago, Detroit, and even as far away as Los Angeles to participate in the test, and local inventors were numerous. Many of those who watched the test felt that it was by no means conclusive and that much more study and investigation will be required before the highway commission will be in a position to recommend a law covering the subject. There were several types of lights that were non-flaring, but objection to them was raised on the ground that they did not throw a strong light sufficiently far in advance to illuminate the road properly for all conditions of driving. The mechanically

Consumers of Cotton Desirous of Knowing Total Quantity Used in all Lines of Business

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 16.—The European war has created an insatiable demand for ammunition. New establishments are being erected for the manufacture of explosives, and the possibility of increased profits is inducing firms engaged in other industries to enter this field. This state of affairs, of course, has an important effect on the price of cotton, which is largely used as a material in the manufacture of explosives.

Director Rogers, of the bureau of census, is carrying on an extensive correspondence in his endeavor to obtain statistics of all establishments using cotton as a material. Consumers of cotton naturally desire to know the total quantity used in all lines of industry, and they can aid in the compilation of accurate statistics by furnishing the census bureau at Washington with the names and addresses of establishments which have begun the use of cotton as a raw material since the commencement of the European war. Mr. Rogers says that a great many letters are being received requesting information as to the quantity of cotton and linters used in the manufacture of explosives. From the express the fear that the bureau is not aware of the extent to which these materials are now being used for this purpose. The director desires to state that the census bureau is aware of the greatly increased demand for cotton linters, and has been endeavoring to collect complete statistics concerning the total quantity used by all consumers of cotton, in compliance with the law which requires monthly reports on this subject.

Unfortunately it is impossible to supply statistics as to the amount of cotton used in the manufacture of explosives alone. The act of congress authorizing the collection of cotton statistics directs the census bureau "to collect and publish statistics concerning . . . the quantity of raw cotton consumed in manufacturing establishments of every character . . . While some manufacturers of explosives purchase the raw cotton and subject it to the necessary processes of purification in their own establishments, many of them buy it from other establishments which purify and treat the fiber so as to render it suitable for use in the manufacture of explosives. Many of these establishments prepare cotton not only for manufacturers of explosives but also for manufacturers of wholly different products, and it is not feasible for the census bureau to obtain separate statistics of the amount of purified cotton turned out by such establishments for use in the manufacture of explosives.

There has been a great increase in recent years in the production of linters and hull fiber. Linters are obtained at the oil mills by regaining the cottonseed, the object being to remove the short fibers so that the fine particles of the kernel will not be carried off with the hulls, making possible a greater yield of oil and meal. The total quantity of linters obtained from the crop of 1899 was 114,741 bales of 500 pounds each; but fifteen years later the output of this by-product of the cottonseed-oil industry had increased by more than 500 per cent, the number of bales turned out from the crop of 1914 being 876,509.

Hull fiber is obtained by a treatment of the hulls which breaks up their structure and makes available the short fibers which have not been removed in the debitting process. Several establishments have been engaged in the production of hull fiber for deflected or turned headlights, while admirably suited to the purpose of the driver, were open to the objections that the driver of a car cannot always tell when his lights are bothering the driver of an approaching car or a pedestrian. To nearly all the devices there was the serious objection that they would be costly to install if required on all the cars in the state. The committee that judged the tests along with the highway commissioners will make a report and it may be that the commission will hold further tests before drafting its recommendations.

The publication of statistics of cotton production and consumption has called public attention to the desirability of similar data concerning numerous other and totally different commodities. The census bureau is receiving numerous requests for such data concerning various articles the production of which has been stimulated by the European war or by economic conditions due in a measure to the war.

There seems to be a general impression that the census bureau is engaged in the collection of such statistics. Director Rogers wishes to emphasize the fact that the work of his bureau is defined and limited by law. He appreciates the importance of statistics concerning the annual production of clothing and food products, of chemicals, of metal and wood products, etc. but congress has not authorized the collection of such statistics and until it does so his bureau cannot undertake the work.
